RESULTS

Assuming that Roosevelt can gain in the nation only what he gained in Vermont in two weeks; assuming that he gained in Vermont only what the Progressive candidate for governor gained; and assuming that he could not gain in naturally Progressive states, any more than he gained in the most rock-ribbed stand-pat state in the Union, it would then follow that Taft could carry Vermont, and could not carry another state in the Union. For there is, by actual figures, not another state that could stand the Vermont slump and still remain Republican. Of course, on these excessive assumptions, Roosevelt would not be elected either, but every one of these assumptions is absurdly less than the truth. That Taft will not carry a single state or get a single electoral vote is now mathematically demonstrated. That Roosevelt will be elected is now rendered probable, but of course not yet mathematically certain.

TELL THE TRUTH

The evening contemporary once more charges the Republican with "garbling the news," because the Republican yesterday morning stated that "the Progressive Republicans WON a victory" in the California primary election, when the Herald says it should have stated that they "CLAIM" the victory. But the Progressive Republicans did win the victory; the Herald itself in the very issue in which it criticizes the Republican for saying so itself says the same thing, and the returns, when the Republican went to press, already demonstrated that this was the case. Is it "garbling the news" to tell the exact truth?

Incidentally, the same evening paper, the evening before, garbled a business fact, it printed on the front page, in red ink, statement of alleged gains by the Herald and advertising business for the Republican, in advertising business for August, 1912, as compared with August, 1911. We hope the figures are correct as to the Herald's own business. A year ago it was in the final throes of its former bankrupt proprietorship, and had practically no business at all. Whatever it may have now is substantially nil gain. But as to the Republican, the figures are wholly false. Instead of losing, the Republican made substantial gain in advertising patronage in August 1912 over August 1911. And the Republican gain was over a very good, not a bankrupt business a year ago.

We are glad to see the evening contemporary surviving, which it could not have done if it had not increased its business over a year ago. But if it must make statements about the Republican's business, let it tell the truth. And when it finds the exact truth in the Republican's news columns, let it not call that truth "garbling the news."

SPOILS SYSTEM

How far the Democrats are behind the times in their consideration of political questions is well shown by the action of the present Democratic Congress in attacking the civil service system and passing a bill for limiting to seven years the tenure of government employees. Those familiar with public affairs twenty years ago remember how much agitation was necessary to arouse public opinion on the question of the spoils system in politics, and how administrations rose and fell repeatedly before there was general acceptance of the principle that the government service had the right of federal employees. It took a long fight, for the principle laid down by Andrew Jackson that to the victors belong the spoils had been powerfully introduced.

Now, any question as to the viciousness of the spoils system and the need of giving permanent employment to federal servants during good and efficient behavior is so unthought of that no one outside of a Democratic congressman would consider it. The Democrats in Congress were afraid to propose it in a direct measure and tried to put it over on the President by an appropriation bill rider. The bill was of course vetoed, and of course the House of Representatives, confronted by the veto, promptly backed down.

The Democratic party, in asking the people of this country for support this year, has nothing to rely on but the record of the present Congress, and the personal qualifications of one man, untitled by any federal service. As far as the Congress is concerned, its proposal to give over the government to the bartering of federal politicians, shows how helpless it has been in legislation, and how indifferent to political morals.

Bryan says he would prefer to see William Johnson President. Mr. Bryan will have a chance to co-operate with him in a few years from now.

RACING COMMISSION

Among the initiative proposals to be voted on this fall is one providing for a Racing Commission, which shall have supervision over—

Well, over what? It is worth doing a little guessing on. The purpose of the proposed law, and of the commission, is to rehabilitate horse racing, under proper regulations. So, in order that there may be horse racing, and that the commission may control horse racing, the commission is given power to control—

Now, don't jump at any rash or hasty conclusions. It is horse racing we are talking about. It is horse racing that is to be regulated. It is horse racing which, under proper control, the commission is to regulate. And therefore, the thing the commission is to have authority to regulate and permit is—

No; don't be so sure about it. There's many a conclusion which looks clear, but isn't. This one, for instance. Analyze it for a moment. Horse racing consists in the racing of horses. The elements in it are therefore horses and racing. This commission, having charge of horse racing, might to a superficial observer, seem to have charge of horses and the racing thereof, including the tracks and grand stands, the riders and the spectators, the honesty of the races, the awarding of the prizes, and generally, the things which have to do with horses and racing.

But one who argues so merely demonstrates his ignorance. In fact, he may be assumed to demonstrate his unfrankness. To confine one's discussion of horse racing to horses and racing is obviously a joke. There are no persons so ignorant as to suppose that the racing of horses is anything more than a minor incident of horse racing. It would be insulting to impute so great a verbiage to any man. Certainly any racing commission would know better—"better," we almost spelled it. The racing commission is to look after the essentials, not the mere incidents, of horse racing. The horses and races will find themselves, just as the peanut vendors will. Never worry about that part. The purpose of the commission is to provide the real thing. And that real thing is—

Well; to come to it finally: The real thing is not racing horses, nor seeing them race, but—betting. And the thing these commissioners are to look out for is—betting. The thing they are to issue permits for is not the racing of horses. Any one can do that now. In order that there may be horse racing, the commissioners are to issue permits for—"betting."

"The right to bet is an individual right. That is the argument. Therefore this individual right should be protected. But, hold! We are going too fast again. Any one who wants to bet has a right to bet. Therefore nobody should interfere with his doing so. Stop! Our logic is leading us wrong again. Let us analyze it very carefully. Betting is an individual right. Therefore betting shall not be individual. Now, we have it! It took two or three starts to get off right, but that is on account of the unaccustomed mental process. Now we are going better. Let us see if we can not argue it through. If we have a right to bet your opinion. Your friend has the right to bet his contrary opinion. Therefore you and he—but no; we are off the track again. It seems hard to stay on. You see, the thing to be rehabilitated is not horse racing. There is no law against that now. It is not even betting. There is no law against that, either. It is—pool selling."

Now we have it. When we use the word "horse racing," of course what we mean is "pool selling." That is what horse racing is. And since there is a law against two sorts of pool selling, it becomes necessary to invent a third sort—the "horis mutuels." This is a sort of betting where the odds make themselves, and the "book" neither wins nor loses. The better can of course lose as much this way as any other. But he will not be cheated—unless, of course, somebody cheats. Thus the sport of horse racing will be revived; nobody will lose unless somebody wins; and nobody will be cheated unless somebody cheats.

Understand? Well, this is what the horse-racing commission is for. And if you are a lover of the noble beast, and like to see it bred and trained to highest perfection—but excuse us again. We forgot, and began talking about horses. What have horses or races to do with horse racing? Anyhow, if you can understand all this, and it is what you want, prepare to vote "Yes" on the horse-racing bill in November.

ON CONGRESSMEN

The Associated Press figures the totals on Congressional primaries in California as Progressive Republicans 43,862, Taft Republicans 23,473, and Democrats 25,249. These figures are mathematically accurate, but they do not in any sense represent the actual alignment of the three forces. No one supposes that the Democratic vote in the state, for instance, is proportionately so small. There were serious contests on the Democratic side in only three districts, and naturally, the Democratic vote in the others was light. In the same way, there was no Progressive Republican candidate in the Fourth district. Congressman Kahn, Taft Republican, got all the votes. In the sixth district, which is overwhelmingly Progressive by every other test Congressman Knowland, for local reasons, got an enormous majority. The same thing happened in the seventh district. Most of those who voted for Needham were Progressives. If the additions had been made on the votes for legislative candidates, for instance, where the issue was directly involved, the Progressive majority, instead of a little over 5,000, would probably be nearer 50,000.

Our Superior Girl Babies

Girl babies are said to show a marked superiority over boy babies at the health contest in progress at the Iowa state fair. Almost all the girls are bigger and heavier than the boys, according to the medical experts who have examined them.

Yet within the last week a man in Chicago to whom had been born a third daughter committed suicide because of the fact. Much fear was expressed in the home of Mrs. John Jacob Astor that her posthumous child might be a girl, and the birth of a son brought rejoicing. It is evident that even though girl babies are superior and daughters have a better chance to develop along natural lines today than they ever had they are not so much desired in some homes, of the rich and the poor, as boys.

Perhaps because, in the case of the poor, boys usually have a greater earning power; perhaps, in the case of the rich, because of the old idea that man is the superior of the sexes or because he will carry the family name. But this is the age of woman's advancement, and the superiority shown by the Iowa girl babies probably marks only a beginning. As they grow into womanhood those daughters of the Hawkeye State may as far excel, in every way, the present boy babies that no one will ever again express a preference for a boy.—Chicago Record Herald.

The Planting Of Dynamite

The suicide of a witness about to testify before a Massachusetts grand jury dramatically centers attention upon an investigation which otherwise might have escaped it. Evidence, to which the suicide was to have contributed, will be given to the Suffolk county grand jury to establish an alleged plot of Boston men to plant dynamite in Lawrence for the purpose of discrediting the textile strike. A man named Brown, who already has been found guilty of placing the dynamite, is said to have confessed and implicated certain mill owners.

When the McNamara's were arrested they and other labor leaders at once asserted that they were the victims of a "frame-up," a plot exactly like the now charged in Boston. The outcome of their trial disposed of that theory.

It is possible that Brown was a real dynamite now implicating mill officials to get even, and such a counter frame-up doubtless will be alleged, sincerely or as tactics, by the latter. The suicide is said, however, to have occurred in connection with the Lawrence strike, and it is hoped that the district Attorney Pelletier has other evidence.

It is hoped there will be a full exposure. If workmen plant dynamite to blow up employers and employers plant it to hang workmen, our American system will realize the increasing emphasis upon social reforms in our politics is not all humbug and concession to the sentimentalists.—Chicago Tribune.

William Booth

It is always unsafe for the condemnation of any man to predict the place which history will give him. Yet there are a few men who at the time of their death leave work so vast and so important and on so firm a foundation that their fame seems assured. Such were Washington, and Lincoln, and Cromwell, and Blenheim and John Wesley.

Such, it seems to us, is William Booth, who died recently. Nothing is lacking by which accurately to judge his stature, except the perspective of years. And even this has been partially supplied by his long service of humanity and the monumental works which he has rendered.

Our judgment may be wrong. But we believe that when the future historian comes to write his volume cov-

VACATION TRIP TAKEN ON THE PROFITS OF SCHOOL FARMING

To prove that farming—the right home so deep it will never be forgotten, for the Bureau maintains that the rural school must provide the kind of training that will not only fit boys and girls for rural life, but will serve to interpret life in the country so attractively that when the children grow to manhood and womanhood they will be glad to remain on the farm.

Plans for sale, printed and developed in a first class manner, Butler & Colson Drug Company, Phone Main 57.

"Real farming did it," said Dr. Claxton, in describing the experiment. "The money earned from their individual garden patches in connection with the study of up-to-date farming paid the expenses of those 22 Virginia school children. The children came from the Second Congressional District Agricultural School at Harper's, near Norfolk. The party was in charge of Mr. J. B. De Jarrette, the principal of the school, and he was a busy man indeed during the three days spent in seeing the sights of the Nation's capital.

"Tomatoes and other produce paid the full cost of the trip—which was just $12.78 for each pupil, by the way. This amount was only a comparatively small part of their total earnings for the year. The children came from one of the best gardening regions in the South, and their school has a unique place in that particular community. The school has an instructor in agriculture, who teaches three days a week and spends the other three days in farm demonstration work, applying on the actual farms of the district the theory he imparts in school."

Further inquiry showed that this is not the first time the children have learned that intelligent farming brings in a cash return. Each student makes regularly a profit of from $25 to $100 on the individual garden patch he cultivates. In addition, the children help in working a school farm, which after paying all expenses, including the wages of a man who serves both as a farm-hand and school janitor, shows a profit of about $200. Mr. De Jarrette is confident that with a 75-acre farm, which he hopes to have soon, his boys will be able to earn their own living entirely while attending school.

The state of Virginia is among the rapidly increasing number of states that are beginning to realize the importance of adequate agricultural education, and money has been appropriated for the purpose. A new $25,000 building is to be dedicated in September, and Dr. Claxton has promised to be present at the ceremonies.

The experiment at Driver is only one of many indications of what the American rural school can and should do. All over the country efforts are being made to bring home to the country districts the significance and value of agriculture. The rural school is the essential link in the chain, and the United States Bureau of Education is endeavoring to drive this fact ing our time he will place William Booth in the front rank of its great men.

Measured by individual character, by originality of thought, by great odds, by indifference to the most deadly kind of attack, and by his passion for humanity, William Booth was a towering figure—Philadelphia North American.

An interesting romance that includes two well-known Fresnoans as the principals will be culminated in San Francisco on the 9th of September when Miss Pearl Herminghaus will become the bride of Donald Womack. The wedding will be a very quiet one with no attendants, and with the immediate relatives as wedding guests. Mr. Womack, who is a member of the popular member of the younger set in Fresno who will welcome her back after a brief residence in San Francisco. Mr. Womack is a southern boy who has won many friends during his residence in Fresno and other points in the East that the young couple will spend their honeymoon. They will return to Fresno in about a month or so.

One of the most interesting weddings of the fall season was that of Miss Vivian White and Frank A. Curtin, which was celebrated very quietly yesterday morning in San Francisco. Although the romance has been suspected for some time, no formal announcement of the engagement had ever been made and so the wedding came as a pleasant surprise. Miss White is a member of one of Fresno county's pioneer families and has enjoyed great popularity since her school days here. While attending the local high school she was a prominent member of the Delta Iota club sorority. After graduating from the San Jose Normal school she has taught in the Fresno schools. Mr. Curtin is one of the deputies in the District Attorney's office, and since taking up the practice of law in Fresno a few years ago, has made many friends in business and social circles. Mr. and Mrs. Curtin will spend their honeymoon in the Canadian Rockies and will return to Fresno to make their home about October 1st.

Miss Martha Harris, who has been spending the summer in the East, is at present in New Orleans, the guest of relatives. She will leave in a week or so for Fresno. Miss Margaret Harris and her mother are to join Miss Martha and Miss Julia Harris shortly and will make their home in Fresno. They have purchased the H. H. Harris residence on Blackstone avenue where they will set up their household gods shortly. Mrs. Harris and Miss Margaret are visiting W. G. Harris in Bakersfield for a short while.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Parsons, and Mary Louise Parsons, H. L. Nudd, E. M. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Braverman are Fresnoans who are stopping at the Plaza. W. M. Conley and Mrs. C. A. Martin and daughter, of Coalinga are also at the popular resort.

Miss Kate Parsons has returned from Los Angeles and is stopping with her brother Montague Parsons at the Mansfield apartments. Mrs. E. A. (Heister) of Los Angeles is a guest also at the Parsons' home.

Mrs. M. D. Huffman has returned from the coast where she visited her daughter, Madeline King and family.

Mrs. E. C. Dunn has returned from a trip to San Francisco.

Mrs. Lucy Griffen and daughters, of Meridian, Mississippi, have arrived in Fresno and will make their home here. Mrs. Griffen was formerly Miss Lucy Kittrell of Fresno, and her former friends will be delighted to welcome her back again.

Mrs. P. W. Fisher has returned from San Francisco and the bay cities, after establishing her daughter, Miss Hazel Fisher in Stanford University for the semester. Miss Fisher is enjoying all the excitement of the "rush" season.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hodge have returned from a summer's outing at Santa Cruz and San Francisco.

Miss Dorothy Forsey, who has recently returned from a year's sojourn in Canada, will be the complimentary guest at an informal afternoon on Friday at which Miss Marie Holton will entertain a number of the company.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Lane are at home again after a summer's outing in Berkeley.

Mrs. W. J. Cleary has returned from San Francisco, where she has been spending several weeks.

At the Young Women's Christian Association last night a delightful informal reception was tendered Miss Edna Houston, the retiring secretary by the members of the Board of Directors. The evening was one of much pleasure and a charming social was arranged for the guest of honor in the form of a lovely brooch of the christening in rolled gold, as a token of appreciation for her efforts while in Fresno. The serving of refreshments was the conclusion of a very happy evening. Among those present were: Mesdames H. W. Weller, W. R. McEwen, L. T. Swift, S. E. Hackett, A. E. Snow, W. A. Fisher, Wyle Giffen, W. F. Chandler, E. H. Redden, M. F. Balford, S. L. Platt, J. M. Crawford, W. J. Kittrell, C. C. Linde, A. L. Markley, J. H. Wenden, Charles Edwards, A. V. Lisenby, Claude Cowan, Misses J. H. Sayre and Frances Dean, all members of the board. Mrs. Francis Martin, general field secretary, Miss May McAllister, office secretary, and Miss Beulah Lipscomb, cafeteria director.

The choir of the First Christian church will be entertained this evening by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Craycroft at their home on Mariposa street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Morgan, Sr. and Mrs. and Mrs. J. D. Morgan, Jr. have returned from San Diego where they have been enjoying several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, Jr. spent part of their honeymoon in San Francisco and later went on down the coast to Los Angeles. They were in a southern California. They were in a week or so for Nashville, Tennessee, where Mr. Morgan will complete his medical course. They will go East by way of Phoenix, Arizona, where they will visit Mrs. Morgan's sister, Mrs. J. Learned Holmes.

The Women's Missionary Society of the First M. E. church held a meeting of officers on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. L. Platt on J street, with the following results: President, Mrs. J. C. Moreland; vice-president, Mrs. W. A. Edwards; treasurer, Mrs. C. F. Braverman; recording secretary, Mrs. E. T. Hall; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. T. Hall; superintendent of young people's work, Mrs. W. H. Smith; superintendent of children's work, Mrs. C. E. Muston; Miss box secretary, Mrs. O. L. Markley.

Mrs. J. C. Moreland, Mrs. A. V. Lisenby, Mrs. Alice McLane and Mrs. C. C. Carney were chosen as delegates to the branch meeting to be held in San Jose early in September.

Mrs. Claude Cowan returned yesterday from a summer's outing at coast points.

Miss Lillian James has returned to Fresno after a pleasant summer in San Francisco.

Mrs. A. C. Dixon will entertain the members of the Swastika Birthday club this afternoon at her home on J street.

Mrs. C. H. Allen, Mrs. Dora Lane and Mrs. T. M. Robinson were chosen as representatives for the Missionary Conference of the M. E. Church, south, in Bakersfield October 10, at a meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's church held on Tuesday, at the church.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. H. C. Chard on Friday afternoon at half past two.

Mrs. Edna Orr James has returned after a summer vacation, part of which she spent at Berkeley Summer school. Mrs. James' mother, Mrs. Orr of Stockton is planning to be with her this year.

TRUSTEES TO TAKE UP AMENDMENTS TO CHARTER

Committee Named to Report On Misuse of Streets By Contractors

Bids Asked For a Bridge Across Dry Creek—Bond Sale Is Postponed

Trustee T. G. Hart submitted last evening at the meeting of the board of city trustees his proposed 13 amendments to the city charter. He forebore reading them because of their length, but made a brief argument in effect that if it is the intention to do anything on this line, it would be better to make it now in view of the coming winter session of the legislature and meanwhile to keep moving right along. Otherwise the amendments would not be available to be operative for two years to come.

Other members of the board, notably Trustees Jones and Patton and Mayor Smead concurred, and it was resolved to meet especially on Friday evening to take up and consider Mr. Hart's amendments and any others that may then be submitted, general invitation to do so was extended.

KEEPING STREET CLEAN. A general discussion was had and many complaints voiced, resulting in the appointment of Trustees Hart, Martin and Jones to consider the misuse of the streets by building and other contractors, report on a timely and enforceable ordinance, covering the subject of the complaints, this report to be presented at the next meeting of the board for action. Trustee Collins was originally named a member of the committee but was substituted.

Mr. Hart because of first having to leave the city on a vacation of four weeks to be spent at Georgetown in El Dorado county.

The subject was brought up by Collins' question whose duty it is to see that the streets are kept free and clear of obstructions by building operations. He was for the appointment of a building inspector and an ordinance defining his duties in this connection.

No one seconded the suggestion, but Trustee Hart took the floor to insist that the trouble is that existing ordinances are not enforced. There are ordinances against the use of 4 and 6 foot deep and the time has come to fix the responsibility of enforcing them. He was not finding fault with any particular official, though he declared that there is a general mismanagement of the city's affairs. He asked whether for lack of help or other cause, the city has been delinquent for years in this regard and a halt should be called.

Trustee Collins referred to the street blockading by the Santa Fe on Labor Day and the continued destruction of Tulare street by the Southern Pacific. Also to the burned airplane with a $10 bond on file to remove the structure after the termination of the season and the ruins after the fire standing untouched. He asked whose duty it is to look after these things.

Trustee Cobb complained in turn of the violation of the contractor of the Rowell-Chandler building in dumping a load of lumber in the alley to block it against the entrance of fire apparatus. This violation, he said, followed after one arrest of the contractor.

Trustee Jones thereupon detailed various infractions in connection with the construction of the Sequoia Hotel Annex, and enumerated various other instances, while Trustee Fergus said it is time also with the construction of high buildings to provide covered sidewalk passages for the protection of pedestrians.

The appointment of the committee followed on the suggestion of Trustee Hart, though Trustee Martin several times pointed out that there should be no difficulty to fix official responsibility for the non-enforcement of ordinances.

DRY CREEK BRIDGE. Trustee Jones reported that the estimated cost of the reinforced concrete bridge on Fortcamp avenue across Dry Creek would be $528,60 and the Fresno Traction Company's share of the cost $185,15, these figures being accepted only as a basis for fixing the relative proportions to be borne by city and company.

Specifications and plans were adopted.

ed, the work to be done as one job and under one contract. Agreement to pay its proportion was signed by Manager Webster for the company, the work to be commenced by the city within thirty days, and the contractor to furnish the material for the railroad track construction across the bridge.

The board also resolved to advertise for 20 days calling for bids to do the work.

BOND SALE DELAYED. A. J. Shattuck of Los Angeles who offered a premium of $100 for the Fresno traction bond issue, telegraphed that their attorneys required additional information before approving the bond issue proceedings. What this additional information is will be learned as a letter to be received later. Under the circumstances the mayor said there was nothing to do but await delay and so action on the final sale of the bonds is put over for a fortnight.

SOOT NUISANCE. From the directors of the Y. W. C. A. was received complaint of nuisance created by the soot from the crematory at I and Tulare streets, asking the board to take action to abate it. Police Chief Jones was called to the front and bid by the mayor to familiarize himself with the ordinance lately passed covering the soot nuisance. Chief Jones was asked to look into the matter and notify the crematory men to abate it or take the consequences under the ordinance, as the nuisance complained of was declared to be a serious one.

PAVING BLACKSTONE. Property owners asked in connection with the paving of Blackstone to extend the work north of Belmont as far as the city limits. The street is, however, not of uniform width beyond Belmont and there is no all-weather sidewalk. Another petition from the fact that one half of Blackstone is outside of the city limits at Eaglewood addition, and for all these reasons action on the request was deferred until the next meeting, when something definite can be undertaken on a report of the city engineer after looking over the ground. The limit given out was that the people of Eaglewood addition may before long ask to be annexed.

APPEALS HEARD. The board sustained the appeal of the Ransom-Crummey Company from the unequal assessment for paving the corner between Tulare and Kern, growing out of an error in figuring the width of the avenue at 50 instead of 60. A new and corrected assessment was ordered and signed.

PROTESTS SUSTAINED. The protest against the assessment district for the opening of Illinois avenue was allowed, having been signed so generally as to leave no doubt as to the public feeling. Action was deferred on the remonstrance against paving of street, signed by 2600 feet of frontage of the 4800 in the six blocks proposed to be paved and more substantial promised on return from their vacations.

TO BUY OILER. The board resolved to call for bids to furnish a street oiler for $750, such a mechanism having been on trial for 20 days and doing good service as reported.

COMPLAINT MADE. That Merced street between A and G needs oiling. Answer was made that the street oiler would come there in due time.

TO LAY SIDEWALK. W. H. Heinrich was given permission to lay cement sidewalk on the northwest line of lock I, southwest from Angus and Tulare, and completing the walk on the southeast side of Tulare between V and Angus.

POULTRY SHOW. The Poultry and Pet Stock Association asked for the use of the pavilion for the 18th annual show to be held December 8-14. Request filed but to be granted if the building is ready then for occupancy.

LIQUOR LICENSES. Granted was the application of Elias Chokke and George E. Valnes for a class B restaurant liquor license for 1621 I street, and on first reading was made a while the request of M. Valdez for a class A restaurant license for 3315 Tulare.

GENERAL MATTERS. The Valley Foundry Machine Works was given permission to erect public scales at 734 H street. City Health Officer Aiken was permitted to attend the meeting at Berkeley of county and city health officers, the city paying his expenses to the sum of $25, and Fire Chief McIntosh's request to advertise for bids to buy the auto driven chemical engine on trial for 3 months was passed over awaiting action first tonight by the police and fire commissioners.

LITTLE CHILD HELD AS SECURITY FOR PAYMENT OF BOARD

Little Tot Cries When Court Orders Her Released as Collateral

Informing her custodian that the laws of America do not countenance holding a human being as a chattel, security for an unpaid board bill, Judge Austin in the juvenile court yesterday ordered little Jessie Roebuck released to go to her father but on condition as he offered in court, place her at once in charge of the sisters of St. Augustine's convent, where he will pay $2 a week for her care.

Roebuck, the father, is an employee at Craycroft's brickyard earning weekly average wages of $3.50 a day. His wife is dead and little 6-year old Jessie was placed in the convent months ago in care of a family named Herrera, the father agreeing to pay for her care but not being prompt with his payments. When a few days ago he demanded the surrender of the child, Herrera refused until the account was squared and thus the matter came up for adjudication yesterday in the juvenile court on a complaint by a third person that the child is dependent on the father not a fit person to have the child because of intemperance habits. All concerned are Mexicans.

Herrera insisted in court of full payment, but Judge Austin told him through an interpreter that this is a matter for outside settlement between them. Little Jessie burst out in lamentations and cries when separated from the Herrera children and accompanied her to the convent. The child had been so long with the Herrera that she was a stranger to her father.

We are just about as old as we LOOK. People judge us, by the way we LOOK. The man or woman with grey hair is beginning to get in the "Old Timer's Class."

This Twentieth Century does NOT want GREY hair—it wants the energy of Youth. The big things are being done by the YOUNGER generation.

There's a sort of "Has Been" look about those "Grey Hairs." There's always one to criticize and smile scornfully. Father Time is a stern disciplinarian. Get the best of him. Give him the laugh. Do not be a "Has Been." It's unnecessary. Use HAY'S HAIR HEALTH.

SOUTH MIDWAY MAKES ANOTHER BIG STRIKE

No. 2 Well Comes In, Sands
Up and Breaks Loose in Flow of 1800 Barrels

MARICOPA, Sept. 4. — The South Midway has made another big strike with its No. 2 well on section 31, 22-24. The well was brought in at 2:54 p.m. and flowed 2000 barrels when it first came in. Later it was shut off and arrangements were being made to care for the production, when it broke loose again and is now doing better than 1800 barrels per day.

The producer has also enabled the company to find the location of the water trouble encountered in well No. 1. The latter was successfully drilled and after producing for a short time began to flow water. It was found in drilling No. 2 that the water came in between the upper and lower oil sands and it will now be shut off in No. 1.

The oil secured from No. 2 is now about 250 gravity. The well is one of the furthest north in the territory. The property of the South Midway oil company, which consists of forty acres, is located near the Lakeview oil company's holdings and those of the National Pacific.

STANDARD OIL CO. SPENDING MILLIONS

Much Money Is Going Into Construction of the Big Refinery Now
Being Built at Richmond

RICHMOND, Sept. 4. — Note construction work continues at the big Standard oil refinery here with increased vigor, and new buildings and new stills for refining the oils are being put up all over the west portion of the city toward the north. Thirty new stills have been constructed this summer, necessitating the use of millions of barrels and a small army of workmen under the supervision of Councilman E. J. Garrard, manager of construction work at the company's big plant here. At present a monster engine is being installed in the pumping station at the long wharf, where several other big engines are now in reserve in case of fire. This pumps up the sea water from the bay and after it has been clarified it is used in the oil process. City water is also pumped there in large quantities.

The company has almost completed

BIG OIL TANK BURNS IN M'KITTRICK FIELD

Caused by Explosion From
Heating Pipe; 20,000
Barrels Lost

COALINGA, Sept. 4. — Starting from an explosion, this morning about 2:00 p.m., one of the 20,000 barrel tanks at the Canans station took fire and at a late hour this afternoon was still burning, and there is still danger of the other two tanks, of the same capacity and filled with oil, burning. The station belongs to the Associated Oil Company, and the three tanks have a storage capacity of 60,000 barrels. There was about 125,000 barrels in the three tanks.

Workmen were bending some pipe and had a fire light on the ground near the tank. In trying to make an L joint of a pipe leading from the tank, they heated it, and the heat probably caused a gas which leaked up into the tank and caused the explosion.

There was about 40,000 barrels of oil in the burning tank, and a portion of it will be saved. Workmen were rushed to the scene and in a short time had an embankment thrown up on the lower side of a ditch below the tank, and the oil from the bottom of the tank was run out into the ditch. It is believed that about 20,000 barrels of the oil will be saved, but the company's policy this estimate is some extent.

The station is located about 12 miles this side of McKittrick.

Its third pipe line to the south, on all fields 200 miles distant, and a fourth one is projected, which is to follow the Santa Fe right of way most of the distance. It is understood that at least a third of the $25,000,000 increase capitalization recently acquired by the Standard is to be expended upon enlargement and improvement of the Richmond plant, which is being made the largest of its kind in the world. All the best of oil plant in the world. All the best of oil plant in the world. All the best of oil plant in the world.

PHILIPPINE OFFICIAL STUDIES OIL FIELDS

Methods of Handling Industry Considered; Leasing
System Observed

COALINGA, Sept. 4. — The Philippine government commissioner, Warren Du Pre Smith, chief division of mines and bureau of science, has been making a tour of the oil fields of this state to make a study of the situation for his part of the government. He has been directed to make a study of the oil industry of the United States, particularly that phase pertaining to the development of the oil lands of the islands. There are a number of oil resources on the islands, principally on Cebu, Leyte, and Tayabas.

On Cebu a well was drilled to 1900 feet with good results, the oil being 25 gravity. On Tayabas a prospect was made at 160 feet, yielding a few barrels of oil a day.

With the government today, that demands immediate attention, is "what method will be the best to handle the situation, get the best results for the people, develop the industry and safeguard the future rights of the people." This is largely the duty of Mr. Smith, to work out a plan of action that will bring the desired results, whether it be a leasing system or private ownership.

NOT DEPENDENT ON U. S.
The Philippine government is not dependent on the United States for financial aid to carry on the administration of the islands. All government expenses are paid out of the revenue of the islands, except that of maintaining the army and one-half of the coast survey work, charging the United States. The budget of last year was $1,000,000 (less $400,000). After the current expenses of the year had been met there remained a surplus. The tax rate amounts to four and one-half per cent ($125 per annum, about one-half of the amount the citizens of Japan are required to pay).

When the United States took possession of Manila, in 1898, Manila was a fifth rate city; today, 14 years later, Manila is on a par with Hongkong, Shanghai and Singapore as a shipping point.

The natural resources of the islands are yet undeveloped, the little direct information obtainable gives great promise for the future. The principal activity is in quartz and placer mining. The greatest interest in the foreign capital now interested is from Australia and New Zealand.

Mr. Smith will have much to do with the framing of legislation governing the oil industry, as well as the mining industry.

DEVELOPMENT NOTES FROM KERN FIELDS

General Petroleum to Start
Thirty Strings of Tools;
Big Tanks Planned

MARICOPA, Sept. 4. — It is rumored that the General Petroleum company will start about thirty strings of tools in the Maricopa district this fall.

The Indian and Colonial Development Company's well No. 21 on section 22, 32-23, is 830 feet deep and has been perforated and is yielding about 100 barrels a day.

Seven tons of cement were used in cementing a well of the Edmonds Midway Oil Company, on section 21, 32-21, which is down about 2500 feet.

The Santa Fe Company has cemented off top water in No. 10 well on section 8, 32-23, and also in No. 21 well on section 11, 32-23.

Preparatory to cementing off the water on section 15, 32-23, the National Pacific Oil Company dynamited its well and four and one-half-inch casing at 1900 feet.

The Muscatine Oil Company used a shot of dynamite to break up the shell formation in well No. 8 on section 1, 11-24, at about 1200 feet.

The Basin Pacific Oil Company has contracted for four steel storage tanks of 2000 barrels capacity and two 550-gallon tanks to take care of the production of well No. 1, which well, it is expected, soon be brought in. This well has twice before been a gusher.

The property of the Midway Southern Oil Company in the west half of the northeast quarter of section 8, 11-24, has been sold to the Ziebach Combination Drill Company, which had an attachment on the same for $2751. The property was bid in for $190.

The Baltimore Oil Company, operating on section 23, 32-24, intends to start four new strings of tools in the near future, and is also figuring on acquiring more holdings. The company has secured large quantities of oil and gas from well No. 1. The well has flowed several times through the eight and one-quarter-inch casing to a height of 125 to 130 feet.

Considerable difficulty was encountered at the time this well was drilled because of striking the salt water at 2583 feet. Oil sand was encountered at 2716 feet, but an attempt was made to drill for a deeper stratum.

The rate at which the Serechles Oil Company recently sold the forty acres in section 22 in the Midway district to the General Petroleum Company is said to have been higher than the price paid by the former for sixty acres, which it formerly owned, that price being $10,000. It is understood that the forty acres purchased by the General Petroleum Company was undeveloped. On the twenty acres which it retained the Serechles Company has two producing wells and two drilling.

BRIEF OIL NOTES OF MIDWAY FIELD

TART, Sept. 4. — The loss of the boiler in the hole at 1500 feet has temporarily blocked the drilling on well No. 2 of the Associated on section 24, 32-23.

The Stockton Midway Oil Company used a dynamite shot in No. 4 well at 1500 feet to shoot off the casing, to permit the further drilling and that the top water may be shut off.

BRINGS $18,000 SUIT AGAINST DUDLEY BROS.

Visalia Attorney Claims
Fee for Sale of Land
For $196,000

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 4. — Charles C. Lamberson, a prominent attorney of Visalia, has brought suit against B. R. Dudley and B. R. Dudley, brothers, for $18,000 alleged to be due for his fee for the sale of Lot 11111 oil land for $196,000. The Dudley brothers were partners of J. D. Martin, who it is said had sold Lamberson his share of the fee for the sale. The sale involves more than 1100 acres, and is situated on three sections one being 32, 26-21, which is known as the "discovery" section, upon which the Universal oil company is operating, and the others are sections 28, 29 and 32, 26-21.

WAVE OF PROSPERITY STARTS IN MARICOPA

Oklahoma Co., Consolidated and Midway Fields to Drill New Wells

MARICOPA, Sept. 4. — The M. J. and M. M. Consolidated property on section 36, 12-24, continues to be one of the banner ones of this district. During August, 160,000 barrels of oil were produced. The company is planning to start three new rigs and will rapidly drill up the property.

There are four wells on the M. J. and M. M. on section 36. No. 8 well is said to be doing 1400 barrels a day. No. 1 is making 200, and No. 10 is doing 1000 barrels a day. The No. 9 well was perforated at 2010 feet and is flowing 700 barrels.

The Midway Fields Oil company which has a big light gravity well on section 4, 11-23, plans to start two new wells in the near future.

An Oklahoma crowd consisting of J. A. Mitchell, Patrick Kerr, M. S. Mosher and J. H. Johnson, have 210 acres on the Maricopa that near Buena Vista lake, and it is stated they will soon be drilling their first well.

The Associated Oil Company is still working on well No. 3 on section 22, 31-23, which was ready to be brought in three months ago when it was held up by the Pacific Crude well fire on the same section. Several dynamite shots were placed in the well and the drillers have been enabled to start work again. The well is 3000 feet deep.

ESPEE COMPANY IS IN LIGHT OIL SAND

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4. — The Espee Consolidated Oil Company has well No. 2 in oil sand in the Santa Canyon, and the oil secured is about 75 per cent asphalt, with 12 to 14 degrees gravity, and is good for road purposes. It is the only oil of light gravity found in the Ventura district. The gas pressure is heavy.

The oil secured at this depth is much lighter than that heretofore found on the company's property, although there have been showings of heavy oil above. The seven and five-eighths-inch casing is being under-reamed in order to cut off the heavy oil, and efforts are being centered on securing the lighter product.

Let Me Tell You in Person Just What Big Opportunities Exist in Calwa

I have been telling you through the papers about Calwa for more than a year. Now I want the opportunity to tell you just what has been done and to take you to Calwa and show you. Then I want to explain what is going to be done. I leave it to you to judge what will be the opportunities in this new town. You will be surprised at what has already been accomplished, at the many high class improvements that have been made, and at the wonderful advances in real estate values.

CALWA

"The New Home of the Santa Fe"

Calwa is the new home of the Santa Fe, a home that will cost $1,000,000 when completed. Already the new reinforced concrete roundhouse has been finished. It has accommodations for 25 locomotives. Five other railroad buildings are in course of construction and are nearly completed.

It is just a short time until the Santa Fe will occupy its new quarters. It means that many men will come to Calwa to live.

Calwa Is Destined to Become a Great Industrial Suburb

Calwa now has the nucleus of a manufacturing center. The most complete terminal of the Santa Fe's system and the largest winery in the world are the start.

Calwa has the greatest future of any town in the inter or as an industrial center. It has two transcontinental railroads, raw materials, etc., to make it the ideal point for manufacturing.

Back to the Days of Ramses King of Egypt

Elaborate Musical Program Also in Connection

Ramses II in life—from black granite statue in Turin; Ramses II in death—from his mummy in Cairo Museum, Italy.

For two days at the Fresno Photo Theater, Ramses II will hold sway. The Cines Company has delved into ancient history—thousands of years ago—and, with a nice discrimination, and artistic keenness has produced a play of exceptional merit.

ATMOSPHERE OF REALISM.

The acting of the principals can not be overlooked. It is talented. Pains-taking rehearsals must have been numerous, as is shown in the great spectacular marriage ceremony and professional scenes in which many hundreds of people take part. There is a warmth of finish and easy naturalness about this imposing production that creates an atmosphere of realism that insensibly transports us from our immediate surroundings and ourselves into the very midst of these throngs of people, who lived their parts thousands of years ago.

MUSICAL PROGRAM ON THE ORGAN PHOTOPLAYER.

A word about the excellent incidental music at the Fresno Photo Theater is not amiss here. For plays of surpassing grandeur, the music, too, seems to rise befittingly to the heights. In short, the better the picture, the better the music, and, in this case the music is sublime.

Wonderful Home of Barnum and Bailey Travels in Five Sections

When the Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth is packed away for the night and the traveling exhibition it lives in a rolling home over a mile in length. This wonderful train is divided in five sections. It is a congress of nations on wheels, a Noah's Ark of animals and a world's fair of a thousand charms.

When the show has spread out for a day's business it covers fourteen acres of ground. Over it waves a sea of canvas, spotted with ten thousand flags and banners. No other show can compare with it in size, wealth or variety. The spirit of P. T. Barnum, the greatest showman who ever lived, still animates its faithful policy. The wonderful system of James A. Bailey, that has made the handling of the gigantic proposition possible, is still in evidence, urging it on from year to year to better and grander achievements.

This circus has spent many of its fifty-five years in touring Asia and Europe. This has kept it in constant touch with the hand of time, and all wonders. Material for this street spectacle was gathered in this way. Agents have searched savage lands, artists and designers have worked for months in the foreign workshops of the show, experts have ransacked the art galleries of France and Italy, and the bones of China and Japan have been busy since early last fall making the silks and satins to clothe the people of the pageant. It has taken two years to turn out the equipment, and the management has spent $1,000,000 on it.

All strange types of the human family are found in the three-mile procession, together with their characteristic costumes, weapons, war vehicles, their music and their ideas. Rich and fantastic carriages of every type, gorgeous tableaux floats, fairy chariots bearing the myths of children, richly draped howdahs, engines of warfare, pagan images, Italian statuary, horse fairs, ostriches, lion-tamers, players, weird dancers, silver chimneys, cathedral organs, siren pipes, chanters, devils, castagnas, pageantry and a thousand other spectacular sights unfold themselves before the eyes of spectators for an hour or more.

The show carries its own dynamo plant, where power is generated for the various shops and for two incandescent lamps, flaring arcs and a battery of spotlights. There is also a city of every description. In the circus grounds are a city in themselves, with doctors, lawyers, barbers, detectives and artists and a corps of ninety chefs, cooks, waiters and kitchen helpers is carried, and 1,000 people can sit at the tables at one time.

The performance in the main tent begins this year with a wonderful spectacle of "Cleopatra," enacted by a cast of 1,250 characters, ballet of 350 dancing girls, grand opera chorus, horses, elephants and camels and a multitude of special scenery. The production is mounted on the biggest stage in the world.

A program of foreign novelties and sensations follows in a spectacle. There are many thrillers and a company of fifty clown supplies the comedy. In the menagerie will be sent the only baby giraffe on exhibition in the world. The circus will be seen here on September 12.

DETAIL WORKINGS OF AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

Republican Will Offer Valuable Book at Cost

How much do you know about the government? If you are uninformed, how can you vote? In order that its readers may become posted in regard to the American Government, its various departments, and their powers, the Republican has decided to give as a premium, at the cost of manufacture and handling, the popular book entitled "The American Government," written by Frederick J. Haskin, a writer of world-wide fame, a resident of Washington, D. C., and an authority on political and governmental matters.

The book is of 388 pages, substantially bound, clearly and neatly printed on good paper and handsomely illustrated.

It will be given at cost to Republican subscribers in accordance with a plan explained in our advertising columns.

BOY SLAYER PAROLED FROM PRESTON

Raymond Treece Coming Home to Parents at Sanger on Parole

Raymond Treece, the 11-year-old boy who a year ago last November, while out hunting, shot and killed Anthony Adams, who was riding along the road, is to be released from the Preston School of Industry. The killing at the time was a puzzle to the officers. It was the result of an irresponsible impulse, without malice or premeditation.

On account of his age, it was decided at the time to commit the lad to Preston. Yesterday Judge Austin upon a report that young Treece had been a model boy at the reform school, made an order admitting him to parole in the custody of his father, G. W. Treece of Sanger. The order was given with the concurrence of Probation Officer Sessions and the Preston School authorities.

The circumstances of the shooting were peculiar. Young Treece and a companion had been out hunting. Returning with out falling any game, Treece saw Adams in the distance riding along the county road in a truck. In impulse, he shot at him. Fatally accurate was the aim.

BURGLARS MAKE RAID ON ROOMING HOUSES

Four Men Fall Victims to Midnight Prowlers; Police Make One Arrest

Rooming house thieves have again invaded the city and as a result four thefts were reported to the police yesterday. Bert Adams was taken into custody by Patrolman Enos on suspicion that he committed one of the burglaries and will be held in the jail while the officers make a thorough investigation. The first burglary reported to the police by Robert Heavensworth of the Boston lodging house who reported that a blue suit and $1.50 had been taken out of his room. Jack Carreston of the Pacific lodging house reported that a

BRAIN STORM EXCUSE MADE BY BOY FORGER

Whirl in High Finance Puts Reedley Youth on Two Years' Probation

"I think I must have been crazy," was 16-year-old Llewellyn Blackley's only explanation before Judge Austin of the juvenile court yesterday afternoon after pleading guilty to the forgery of a $5 check on the 31st of last month drawn on a local bank.

The boy's stepmother from Reedley informed the court that he was ordinarily a good boy, had no bad habits, that she knew of and she was at a loss to account for his act of forgery.

Policeman Cronkrite said that nothing is known of the youths' antecedents but remarked that the passing of the worthless check was without excuse as the boy had $30 when arrested. After remonstrance by Judge Austin and warning that his course was sure to lead from jail to the penitentiary, the boy was released on parole for two years to report monthly to Probation Officer Sessions.

FRESNO COUNTY FAIR

OCT. 1 TO 5

New Exhibit Buildings
New Grandstand
Many Other Improvements

A big new addition has been made to the grandstand and many other new buildings have been built at the County Fair Grounds in order to prepare for the greatest fair that has ever been held in the San Joaquin Valley. No expense is being spared to secure attractions of all kinds.

GREATEST RACING PROGRAM

Scores of FREE Attractions

Besides the races and exhibits of various kinds, there will be numerous free attractions such as fireworks, etc. The very best that can be secured will be shown. There will be a large number of special features for children so that the Fresno County Fair will be of interest to the little folks as well as to adults. A list of some of these attractions will be given in a few days. The exhibits this year will surpass those of former years as the appropriation for prizes is very large and much interest has already been aroused.

BIG LIVE STOCK EXHIBIT

Many Races Big Purses

The Fresno County Fair follows the State Fair so closely that practically all of the horses that compete there will come to Fresno for the races. Besides these, there will be many local horses so that all races will have full entries. Big purses are being offered so that there will be a good incentive for owners to enter their horses. The track is being put into excellent condition and some very fast time will be made.

GEORGE BRYAN BRUMMELL

ENGLISH LEADER OF FASHION.

"Beau Brummell" was the nickname given to George Bryan Brummell, a man who was famous in his day as the ruler of fashion and for representing the perfection of taste in the matter of dress. No anecdote of his very early years is known except that he cried because his juvenile stomach was not infrequently deranged so that he could not more of his aunt's delicious tarts.

Brummell first came to notice at Eton, as a student aged twelve, where he was called "Beau Brummell." There he distinguished himself not at his cricket playing, bowling or flouting, but as the introducer of a gold buckle on the white cravat, by never being fagged and by his ability in testing cheese. Then Brummell went to Oriel College, where he made his mark by a studied indifference to discipline, a dislike of study and an aversion to school fairs, long and silver ones were common at the tables of the middle classes to which his parents belonged.

He became one of the competitors for a prize to be given for the best poem. He failed and in disgust he left college at the age of seventeen, having been there less than a year. However, if he had little learning, he had learned two things, how to gain celebrated friends and how to cut any of his acquaintances who ceased to be of benefit to him.

By the death of his father Beau Brummell received 25,000 pounds, which he spent in living, and when that was gone he subsisted on what he obtained by gambling, borrowing and begging. He obtained a coxswain in the 10th Hussars, of which George, Prince Regent, afterwards George IV, was colonel—a regiment of fops, the most extensive, best dressed and worst moralized in the British army.

A walk Brummell chanced to take on the terrace of Windsor was a lucky circumstance to him. The Prince-Comet observed him, asked who that exceedingly well dressed person was, and the Beau was introduced. An acquaintance was followed by an intimacy which later the ex-coxswain developed into unbounded impudence.

By this step his reputation was made, which he kept up for some years. He had an immense fund of good, but not witty sayings. His friends pronounced him a charming companion; he entered the highest circles in England and his rise in his regiment was rapid. In three years he was at the head of the troops, to the disgust of the older officers.

In 1794 Brummell sold his commission. His reason for this was never thoroughly explained, but the unsettled state of Europe at that time rendered it highly probable that his regiment might be sent into active service and he preferred a drawing room to a battlefield.

He then commenced the profession of a "Beau" and became known as the "Prince of Beau" while his patron was called the Beau of Prince. At this time he was perfect in point of figure, with an intelligent, but not a handsome face. He had light brown hair, a nose somewhat Roman and a beautifully shaped hand. Dress at that time became very simple. Many of the leading men of the day affected simplicity and the mode of a gentleman's dress had come to be as slovenly as possible.

Brummell, who had been conspicuous from boyhood for the neatness of his attire, now determined to be the best dressed man in London. He took care to display to the best advantage his fine figure in a perfectly fitting frock coat. But his chief forte lay in his cravat, which before his time, was a piece of neck-cloth of limp cambric loosely fastened around the throat. He took care to have it slightly starched, with shirt collar erect and of a prodigious height, he generally applied the cravat to the throat. At first it was a simple and modest affair. An enormous and motley crowd gathered on the beautiful plain of Vauxhall, on the shores of the Marmora, to witness the first horse races of the Ottoman metropolis. The day was magnificent, the weather brilliant and the people at the height of their festive mood. The Moslems have never seen horse races before. To them it was in every way a new spectacle, and to all it was a real sign of advancing times.

Among the many thousands of spectators, women predominated. Hours of the show they came from every quarter with baskets of provisions, intending to spend the whole day in eating and chatting over the events of the day. The groups of Turkish "charms" in their bright, multi-colored turbans, fezzes and shawls were picturesque in the highest degree.

The ladies of the imperial harem watched the races from their carriages. The Sultan was fatigued and did not attend and his absence was a great disappointment to performers and spectators alike. Many of the diplomatic body platforms and large specially constructed platforms and large numbers of the most elegant elements of the European quarter also attended.

There were six races, and the highest prize, 100 Turkish liras, was won by a Lilel Arab horse, a smart fellow who rode a beautiful Arab horse, Zil-Zil. There was also a steeplechase, in which only two officers participated, and Rushd-Hey proved the winner.

Several deficiencies such as not keeping exact time and the inexperience of the judges, will undoubtedly be remedied on the next occasion. Consistent correspondence London Chronicle.

measured a foot in width. Then he laid down artistically the collar, followed by his cravat, with slow and regular movements the twelve inches were reduced to four and the tying of the knot followed. He never tried the same cravat but once, and if he failed, off it came, was thrown aside and another tried.

He may be excused for being vain for he was flattered by kings or their representatives, the Prince regent, spending hours in the morning in the Beau's room watching the progress of his toilet. A Duchess thought it necessary to warn her daughter to be careful of her behavior. When the celebrated Beau Brummell presided at a card and a creditor was satisfied with a bow from a club-house window and a word from him would ruin a tailor. He sacrificed his humors to his appearance, for he would not remove his hair from a street, after it had been placed in a correct position, to bow to a lady.

Beau Brummell had a famous collection of snuff boxes and was celebrated for the care he took in opening the lid of the box with the thumb of the hand that carried it and delicately taking a pinch with the fingers of the other. He was, in short, a well-dressed snob, but he was flattered and invited everywhere to such a degree that he thought himself a great man.

He boasted that he had but to beckon to the Dukes of Argyll and Jersey and they would come, and he held all but the peerage in disdain. It seems strange that a man of his disposition should be tolerated at a club, if any of the many anecdotes told of him are true. The houses of the British nobility, he regarded as the quarters of the vulgar and valet and mountaineer, with or without invitation, and to be spoken of afterward as "a house to spend one night in."

He boasted of the Prince: "I made him what he is and can unmake him," just the sort of saying to irritate a brainless Prince. Brummell dined with the Prince, and carrying his impudence a little farther, he requested the regent to ring the bell. He did so, and when the servant came, he ordered "Mr. Brummell's carriage." It may have been the remark made sometime before about the Beau's having made the regent, or it may have been the sarcasm on the Prince's complacency, but at any rate, the bell was rung and the knell of Brummell, who, however, had a little revenge.

The Prince prided himself on his figure, and as he grew broad with years and good living, he was not so keen to preserve it. The Beau, meeting him in company with another gentleman, inquired very coolly but loud enough for the Prince to hear: "Who is your fat friend?" The coolness, presumption and impudence of the question, and the very best thing Beau ever said, cut the Prince, but gave him the nickname of the "Dandy Killer."

For a while Brummell patronized the regent's brother, the Duke of York, but he soon got deeper and deeper in debt. He struggled along, and often with some success, to keep his place among dandies and wits. Creditors became troublesome, he received the nickname of "George the Great," in contrast with the Duke of York, who was called "George the Great," and he came to the conclusion that it would be better to cross the channel.

For the remainder of his life the Beau lived in France, part of the time in a government censorship position, and the remainder of the time supported by his former friends. He finally sustained a paralytic shock, from which he never recovered, and he died in a hospital, surrounded by creditors, and in prison. He showed signs of imbecility, all care of his person went and from carelessness and disease his habits became so filthy that an attendant could hardly obtain for him admission to the asylum of the Bon Sauveur, Caen, where he died on March 20, 1840.

A FLOATING FARM
Jens Seby's "floating farm" is one of the famous sights on the Columbia river, writes a contributor to the July Wide World Magazine. All the buildings are supported by three rafts made of huge pine logs. Seby, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, got the idea of a floating houseboat when traveling in China and Japan, and when he returned home after the war he built three rafts on the Columbia river, and on each he erected a house, and a warehouse in keep with the house, and chickens, pens, and so on; he also made a garden in which he raised enough vegetables for the use of his family. Seby's farm and buildings are on the water, and floating around on the river, and fishing parties here they were housed and fed, and at night Seby would play his old violin for their entertainment. He also gave music lessons. The "farm" was moored in front of the property of E. E. De Long, who charged Seby 50 cents a day for mooring. When Seby did not pay his rent for two years De Long secured a judgment and a writ of ejectment from the judge of the Superior Court, but when the sheriff attempted to enforce the order the water rose and the floating houseboat was carried down the river, and the water rose, and George Johnson, deputy sheriff, was sent to remove Seby's property. He hired a dozen men and crew of half a dozen rafts, pulled up the anchors and the rafts and towed his unique floating habitation half a mile down the stream where it was anchored, and where Jens and his wife still live.

The Presidential Campaign.

The greatest political battle of a generation is now waging in this country. It will be settled in one way or another by the people at the polls in November.

To understand properly the issues involved in this fierce contest every American ought to know all about the actual working system of the government.

That information he can find in convenient form only in "The American Government," by Frederic J. Haskin, a book that is as accurate as it is impartial, as interesting as it is informing, as substantial in make-up as it is cheap in price.

It will be distributed by this newspaper, for the mere cost of production and handling, simply for the good to be accomplished by its general circulation.

Full announcement of the plan of distributing this book among the readers of this newspaper will appear in tomorrow's issue.

NEW STYLE CABS IN LONDON

In spite of the increasing number of taxicabs and motor buses the owners of the horse-drawn cabs in London have not given up the struggle to get new conditions they are putting out cabs of new types.

The new vehicles are to be victrolas and four-wheeled hansoms. Both will be provided with taximeters and the fares are to be slightly less than those of the petrol-driven taxicabs. Twelve cents will be charged for the first mile instead of 16, and 6 cents for each subsequent half-mile, as compared with the tariff of 4 cents a quarter-mile.

The four-wheeled hansom may be described as a victoria with a hansom cab roof, the driver's seat being in front of the fare instead of behind. Fitted to the roof is a sliding tray, which the driver can pull forward for loading or unloading without in any way inconveniencing passengers. Its language capacity is equal to that of the ordinary London "growler," and the minimum effort for the driver is closed against wind and rain. There are four panel doors in place of the customary two used in hansoms. Altogether it will be found to be a swift, moving, easy-going, compact and comfortable vehicle.—New York Sun.

SUCCESSFUL JELLY MAKING.

The good fruit which is a little underripe. Use the best granulated sugar. Do not make large quantities of jelly at one cooking. Heat the sugar in the oven before adding it to the fruit juice.

If the juice must be boiled down, always do so before the sugar is added. The jelly will be clearer and finer if the fruit is simmered gently and not stirred during cooking. If you do not allow the syrup to boil rapidly, or crystals may appear in jelly.

Always make jelly on a bright, clear day. Wash the jelly glasses in hot water and set them on a folded cloth hung out of hot water.

Put the jelly in a sunny window for twenty-four hours, then cover with melted paraffin and set in a dry, cool place.—Ladora Lockwood Dow in Woman's World for July.

THE MID-SUMMER GARDEN

The art of maintaining the mid-summer garden should be to give it the appearance of tropical luxuriance, and this can be accomplished, if you start now to keep off all ugly flowers and all wilting foliage. The late summer-blooming things, such as some of the annuals and the hydrangeas, like the althea and the day lilies, sometimes do not do well on account of not being helped through the trying weather of the first real hot, dry time when the garden is often neglected. Keep them well cultivated, and if your soil is not all that it should be, feed them home-made manure, or a little potash, in the shape of muriate of potash, one ounce to two ounces of water, and soak about them.—Samuel Armstrong Hamilton in Woman's World for July.

THE GARDEN SEASON

Every year we hear the springtime spoken of as the "garden season," as though it were particularly so, but this is not the case. It is the annual "plant-planting" season for those things which grow from seed or are deciduous in the progress, and not the most important, either. There is no "garden season" per se, as with the real and true gardener the work of the garden, as a whole, extends throughout the entire twelve months of the year.—Samuel Armstrong Hamilton in Woman's World for July.

A LIBEL ON THE SOUTH.

Chairman James, at a dinner during the Democratic convention in Baltimore, attacked the South.

"It is a land on the South to deem it sleepy," he said indignantly. "The sleepy South, forsooth! Why, I believe that there are certain untraveled Americans who actually believe there is some truth in the drummer's yarn about Nola Chucky."

"A soap drummer, you know, declared that, on a hot August afternoon he penetrated into the back room of a Nola Chucky grocery, to find the blinds down and the grocer taking a nap upon a heap of dusty potato bags."

"Colonel," said the drummer, "there's two customers in the store." "S-sh," said the grocer, putting his finger on his lip. "S-sh. Keep quiet. Make no noise. They'll go away."

A PUN BY RYAN.

At a crab supper in honor of Thomas F. Ryan, during convention week in Baltimore, a Congressman said apropos of Mr. Ryan's attack on Mr. Ryan:

"I, for my part, am against this muck-raking and mudslinging. Why should our public men be kept continually under the lash?"

"S-sh," said the grocer, putting his finger on his lip. "S-sh. Keep quiet. Make no noise. They'll go away."

JOURNEY-WISE

Fragrant the peace which the dead have found. Warm as the new-mown hay. Piled on their graves in the old churchyard. Spread for a summer's day.

To speechless lip and earth-stopped ear. Do songs of the wind still sing? To speechless lip and sightless eye. Does the sun sweep-being bring? Ah, who shall tell this thing?

Well, here lie the hearts that are journey-wise. Dust are the lips we love. Peaceful their sleep in the old churchyard.

With the new-mown hay above. Fragrant the peace in Woman's World for July.

AUGUST METEORS

One of the most important "showers" of meteors, or shooting stars, occurs on the 10th and 11th of August. Its center of radiation is from the constellation of Perseus, which rises in the northeast about 10 P. M. They are called "Perseids" and are also known as the "Tears of St. Lawrence." One should watch until midnight for these meteors, and an attentive observer in the course of an hour.

The Lockwood System of Dentistry Without Pain

Lecture No. 36

The advantage MY SYSTEM of dentistry WITHOUT PAIN has over other offices, which have no RELIABLE method of rendering work painless is of course quite apparent. The patient avoids the nerve strain and fatigue usually accompanying dental operations and the PAIN factor being eliminated, his visit is one of comparative comfort.

Another VERY IMPORTANT advantage, however, is the fact that being able to render a tooth INSENSIBLE to ALL sensation enables me to do BETTER WORK than I or any other dentist could possibly do if I had not this VALUABLE METHOD at my disposal.

The merits and claims of MY SYSTEM of dentistry have been thoroughly tested and proven to hundreds of pleased patrons of my office, not only in Fresno but throughout the Valley. These patients will tell you of the EXCELLENCE of the work they had done and the pleasant manner in which it was accomplished.

I make no charge for an examination or estimate. My prices are moderate.

WEST SIDE FAIR WILL START IN ON FRIDAY

Confetti Battle on Closing Night; Auto Parade and Ball Game Sunday

NEWMAN, Sept. 4.—The sound of hammers and saws are heard night and day at the West Side Fair, which opens Friday and continues until Sunday. Exhibits are at work installing booths for display of the resources of western Stanislaus and Merced counties. Exhibits are already arriving and promise to be more numerous and better than on previous years. Supt. Keuer and Mrs. J. W. Gray, who has charge of the woman's department, are kept busy arranging the exhibits.

The pavilion department will be worth seeing this year, if forecasts are of any value. Gustafson, Patterson, Stevenson, Irwin, Turlock and other neighboring communities will be well represented, especially in the fruit section, which is expected to be a record breaker.

Superintendent Dobrzensky of the race department has received word from Livermore that some fifteen stoppers entered for the races here this week were shipped from the horse center of California.

With the home horses and a nice bunch from Los Banos, the two day race program will be nicely filled.

The Business Men's Association of Modesto promises to send over not less than twenty auto loads of people on Friday, and perhaps many more.

Saturday being the close of the fair proper, the pavilion and stock show, the gayety of the week will climax Saturday night in a carnival evening, with a confetti battle, lantern illumination, band concert, and wind up with a grand ball.

There will be something doing every minute Saturday from 10 a. m. when Aviator Bryant will give his second exhibition, to the small hours of the following morning, when the ball is brought to a close.

The city had been gaily decorated for the fair, and already presents a holiday appearance.

TULARE MAN PLANS MARKET DAY SALES

TULARE, Sept. 4.—What a public market is to a large city, Gus Harwood of this city hopes to make to this town through a novel plan which he announces he will put into operation here in a few days. His plan is that of holding a public auction every week. Farmers have been solicited to announce what stock or produce they wish to dispose of. These items will be thoroughly advertised with the expected result that buyers will be on hand who are in need of those particular items.

POWER SYSTEM STORM CRIPPLED IN MODESTO

Transfer Is Made to Steam
Plant in San Francisco;
Snow Falls at Relief

MODESTO, Sept. 4.—Reports of the storm in the mountains Tuesday were received here today. It is said to have been the worst in the history of the mountains, and resulted in crippling the power stations of the Sierra & San Francisco Power Co. As soon as the plant was put out of commission, communication was had with headquarters in San Francisco, and a transfer was made in just one minute and a half to the steam plant in the bay city, and electricity was sent over the wires and light and power furnished all along the line, excepting at the Vena mine, where operations were suspended till repairs can be made.

Eight inches of snow fell at Relief, and one and a half inches of rain fell at the Stanislaus station in less than three hours. Lightning struck the high tension wires near the Stanislaus station and followed them to the Bay Shore substation near San Francisco, rendering that plant completely useless and necessitating the use of the steam plant in the city. There will be considerable of a rise in the Tuolumne river as a result of the storm.

PAL OF BERRY IS GIVEN DISCHARGE

Frank Lewis, Arrested in Madera With the Man Who Held Up a Fresno
Street Car, Is Liberated

MADERA, Sept. 4.—Fred Small, alias Frank Lewis, who was arrested at the time of the holdup in Barnett's hotel with Berry who was taken to Fresno charged with street car robbery, was discharged today on motion of District Attorney Lawer, who stated to the court that the evidence was not sufficient to warrant a conviction. Small was in the Barnett place when Berry held it up and was arrested as it was thought at the time that he may have been a partner of the real holdup man. Investigation proved that Small could not be convicted of complicity, hence the motion. Small had been in jail 51 days.

STANISLAUS OFFICER DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Served 3 Terms; Second
Death Recently Among
Board Membership

MODESTO, Sept. 4.—For the second time within a few weeks death has entered the membership of the Stanislaus board of supervisors. Supervisor M. A. Levels, of Oakdale, died very suddenly Tuesday afternoon. The cause of death is unknown. He had been only a few years, and his death was wholly unexpected. It is believed to have been caused from pneumonia poisoning. He was 48 years of age and was born in Tuolumne county. He is survived by his wife and daughter. He had served the district for twelve years. He was in the stock raising business and owned a dairy in Oakdale. He was a prominent man of affairs and in the councils of the Democratic party.

M'KITTRICK, Sept. 4.—Dr. W. H. Cook and Mrs. Cook have returned from California Hot Springs, where they spent several weeks. Dr. Cook's return to M'Kittrick was delayed by the illness of his wife and mother, both of whom have recovered.

Mrs. E. C. Kendall, after visiting Portland and Seattle with Mr. Kendall, is now with friends in San Francisco. Mr. Kendall returned this week and Mrs. Kendall will be at home shortly.

Mrs. Edward Day, who has been very ill in Los Angeles, is reported to be much improved. It is thought she will be able to return to her home at Atwater within the next two weeks.

Robert C. Dear has returned from San Francisco, where he spent several days, combining pleasure with business.

J. R. Macney, formerly of M'Kittrick, but now a resident of Paso Robles, was in the city this week on a visit to friends.

PETITION IS FILED FOR LOCAL OPTION

NEWMAN, Sept. 4.—A petition for a local option election in the Fourth Supervisor district, which includes Gustine, Stevenson, Irwin and other territory, is asked to be placed on the ballot at the general election in November. The petition contains the names of 363 voters. It will come up at the next meeting of the supervisors.

PLAN ENTERPRISE FOR SPRINGVILLE

Southern Capitalists Will Erect Resort
Hotel and Bottling Works for Famous Spring Water

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 4.—It is reported here that plans are being considered by a syndicate of southern investors, the identity of whom are not given at this time, for the erection of a $75,000 hotel resort at Springville, and for bottling, advertising and exploiting of the waters from the Springville soda spring. Statement is made by medical experts that the waters of the soda spring have an especial virtue in all stomach disorders, and that the climatic conditions of the foothills are such that the resort could be made very popular with very little publicity work.

As the plans have been considered the building would be constructed near the terminus of the P. N. E. railroad, and close to the spring.

MADERA SALOONIST ACCUSED OF ARSON

Is Arrested Following Fire Which Occurred Just After His Lease Expired on Building Occupied

MADERA, Sept. 4.—C. T. Robinson, who has been conducting a saloon at Central Station, was brought here this afternoon by Constable Neil McDonald, and lodged in jail on a charge of arson. He is accused by L. W. Jada of having set fire to the saloon. Robinson has conducted the saloon at Central Station for several months. His lease expired on September 1st. On last Monday morning at 1:30 the building took fire and was burned to the ground. There was no insurance.

LINDSAY PEOPLE ARE INVITED TO AID ROAD

Investigation Made by Business Men of Big Four;
Directors Meet

TULARE, Sept. 4.—Additional help in the Big Four Electric Railway project, an interurban line to connect this city with Visalia, Hanford, Lemoore and other points, was assured today with the visit here of representatives of the Lindsay board of trade who came here to make an investigation.

A thorough examination of the promotion company's books was made, and an inspection of the rights of way and construction work was also made, with the result that members of the committee expressed themselves as highly pleased. It now remains for the Lindsay board of trade to endorse the road, as it has been endorsed by the commercial bodies of Porterville, Visalia, Tulare, Woodville and Pular. The promotion company has asked that the Lindsay board of trade assist in securing rights of way from the Porterville branch of the line, a distance of six miles, and that they lend their moral support to the plan of disposing of $7,000 share of stock. The Lindsay delegation which conducted the investigation today, was composed of Judge R. M. Graham, W. E. Howe, secretary of the Lindsay Commercial club, C. Dowell, cashier of the Lindsay National bank, W. W. Grimes, Z. B. Pugh, all representatives of business men.

In connection with the visit paid by this committee, an executive meeting of the Advisory board of the railroad was held in which the general situation of the road was gone over. John Coffee Hayes, president of the Lindsay board of trade, was chairman of the committee, presided at this meeting. Other directors in attendance were J. T. Morgan, R. F. Cross, Chas. A. Whitmore and M. J. Rouse, of Visalia, and Jos. Scott and Dr. J. W. Harpster of Tulare.

An important issue in connection with the building of the road will come up at the meeting of the city trustees tonight, when the matter of opening bids for a franchise to use a mile of the city streets to allow the road to build into this city, will occur.

The recent labor difficulties due to the walk out of the men employed in construction work, have been entirely overcome. Promoter Frank Avery announced today that 25 head of horses would be put to work on the grading next Monday doubling the present working force.

Your Money Will Buy You More Land and Better Land if Invested Here.

$75 to $150
And on Easy Terms

This land is being sold by the railroad company at just half what could be obtained for it. But the Central California Traction Company bought the land at a low price before the railroad was built and will sell at just what the land cost with the selling expense and interest on the investment added. Settlers are what are wanted to make the railroad profitable. That is why this land is being sold at such low prices. That is why your money will buy you more land and better land here.

This land is a rich, chocolate loam soil, very deep and fertile, with just enough slope to give good drainage. It lies within 3 miles of the railroad.

Beneath the surface soil is a subsoil of a gravelly nature that contains an inexhaustible supply of water. This is pumped for irrigating at a cost of about half the expense of irrigating in other sections.

Fruits of every kind, including oranges, are grown in this district, grain and vegetables do exceptionally well. The climate is delightfully cool and healthful. No malaria here.

Sixteen electric trains run between Sacramento and Stockton every day, giving excellent service and quick and cheap transportation. Connections can be made with transcontinental railroads or boats for San Francisco.

Two-thirds of the people of the state live within 100 miles of this land, giving the best of markets.

MYSTERY OF MODESTO BOY'S DEATH SOLVED

Driver of Wagon That Ran
Over Victim Did Not Know About It

MODESTO, Sept. 4.—The mystery of the death of Ross Fogarty, which occurred last evening, has been cleared up. L. H. Robinson, a teamster in the employ of a drayman, was driving a wagon loaded with hay past the high school on Monday afternoon and when going west on L street he heard a child yell. Turning around he saw a boy lying toward the curb. He attached no significance to the incident and forgot about it till questioned by a policeman following the death of the boy. On being taken to the scene of the accident he admitted that it was his wagon undoubtedly that ran over the boy.

Residents in the vicinity of the accident told of seeing the boy running and catching onto the wagon to ride, and it is supposed he held on and fell under the wheels of the vehicle. The load of hay prevented the driver from seeing the boy until the wagon had passed over him. Following the accident the boy was taken to his home and physicians summoned. He died some 12 hours after the accident from internal injuries.

LEMOORE COMING TO CLASH WITH ARCADES

Pitcher Miller, Roy Kuhn and Doc Funk Are in Visitors' Lineup

GAMES NEXT SUNDAY.

Lemoore at Fresno. Kingsburg at Hanford. Fresno Coliseum at Madera. After defeating Watsonville, 4 to 3, yesterday at Lemoore, the Cubs will begin to make preparations for coming to Fresno next Sunday for a game with Reg Daner's Arcades, champions of the City League. This battle will be staged at Recreation Park and a big crowd is expected. The game is to be called at 2:30 o'clock, with Miller pitching for Lemoore and Carl Merriman on the slab for Fresno. Last Sunday, the Arcades went to Kingsburg and administered a beating to Al Ehling's Speed Boys, 5 to 15, due to the big league heaving of Merriman, who held his opponents at arm's length while his teammates were pounding Guiley and Cowan. By defeating Snowden's Watsonville Giants yesterday, Pitcher Miller of the Lemoore team recorded his seventh straight victory in two months. In a few weeks, he and his battery-chief, Roy Kuhn, will leave for San Francisco to join Bill Kelly's Seals in the Coast League. Miller is one of the best catchers in the valley and Kuhn as a pitcher is in a class by himself since his brother, Walt Kuhn, joined Portland and later became a member of the Chicago White Sox. Kuhn is now one of the regulars behind the home plate for Chicago. Lemoore is coming here Sunday with a long string of scalps tied to its belt. Pitcher Miller has struck out 22 men in the last two games, 13 Madera batsmen and 9 Watsonville

VIC HANSEN-HOLLAND GO AT IT! ON 17TH

FIGHT, Sept. 4.—What will undoubtedly be one of the best fights of the year will be staged here on September 17th by Promoter Izzy Reinfeld. The fight for the ownership of the light middleweight title will be between the two men who will meet in the arena at 8 o'clock on the day of the fight. Hansen is anxious to retrieve his lost laurels and is pretty apt to give the Holland fighter a rough return. Hansen is well known in the local fight circles and will have plenty of backers in this fight. Holland also is well known as a fighter who goes the limit to get his man.

Against him, the Fresno club will use Carl Merriman, the Clovis Wonder, who beat Kingsburg last Sunday and was considered the best twirler in the City League. Lemoore blanked Madera, 3 to 0, while the Arcades were trouncing Kingsburg and the Hanford Highwaymen were nosing out the Coliseum at Recreation Park. The Coliseum were defeated by Kingsburg and Hanford. The Arcades lost to the Highwaymen, but got even at the expense of the Kingsburg club.

This will be the second game of the Valley League season in Fresno and the Arcades should prove a big drawing card, inasmuch as they will be the City League champions. It will be the first game at home for Daner's boys, as they played the initial battle of the season at Hanford and the second at Kingsburg. The Lemoore team is considered the best drawing card in the Valley League because of the class of pitcher Miller, Catcher Kuhn and Third Baseman Doc Funk, formerly of the Fresno Tigers of the State League. Funk is one of Lemoore's leading dentists and plays ball on Sunday. Yesterday, against Watsonville, the little doctor grabbed three blows in four times up.

NATIONAL LEAGUE PENNANT RACE UP TO CHANCE AND MCGRAW: MANAGERIAL BRAINS TO BE BIG ITT' DURING CLOSING WEEKS

John J. McGraw and Frank Chance.

The home stretch in the National league pennant race promises to be a thriller, and the victory will be to the manager—either Frank Chance or John McGraw—who uses the most brains. It will be either the Cubs or the Giants who will come up against the Boston Red Sox in the world's series; in the meantime, base ball is to be treated to the most interesting exhibition of managerial jockeying that has ever stirred the pastime.

WILL TRY TO KEEP U. S. GOLF TITLE

Harold Hilton.

Harold Hilton of England, who carried off the American golf title last September, will try to turn the trick again this season, but the task will be a harder one than it was last year. More than one hundred United States crickets will oppose his efforts on the course at Wheaton, Ill., where the contest will begin on Labor day. The National amateur championship this year promises to be the most bitterly contested event since the rival and ancient sport was brought to these shores.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

BROOKLYN, Sept. 4.—Hummel's single in the thirteenth with a man on third beat Boston in the greatest pitchers' duel of the year in Brooklyn. Stack and Dickson allowed but three hits each up to the twelfth inning. Score: R. H. E. Brooklyn ..... 2 6 2 Boston ..... 1 3 3 Batteries: Stack and Miller; Dickson and Rariden. (18 innings.)

CINCINNATI, Sept. 4.—St. Louis won the final game of the series from Cincinnati. Salles was in excellent form, and while hit frequently was effective with men on bases. Magan, Mowry and Bresnahan batted well. Score: R. H. E. Cincinnati ..... 0 9 0 St. Louis ..... 3 9 0 Batteries: Benton and Clarke; Salles and Bresnahan.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—New York and Philadelphia broke even in the first of three successive double-headers to be played between the teams in this first contest. New York won by bunching five doubles and a single with a pass off Moore's delivery in the second and fifth innings, while Tesreau kept his opponents' hits scattered. In the second, Chalmers returned to the game after a long lay-off and pitched a good game. Score: (First game) R. H. E. Philadelphia ..... 2 8 0 New York ..... 5 10 3 Batteries: Moore and Kilmer; Tesreau and Wilson.

(Second game) R. H. E. Philadelphia ..... 0 9 1 New York ..... 2 5 2 Batteries: Chalmers and Doolin; Marguard and Wilson.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Wilson's home run drive in today's game won for Pittsburgh and widened the margin between Chicago and New York to six full games in the pennant. Chicago took a two run lead after this inning and O'Toole retired after this inning and Robinson held the locals safe. The visitors made one run in the sixth, and in the eighth, after one out, Carey singled, Doolin popped out and Wagner was purposely walked. Miller then singled and Carey hit the ball. With two men on, Wilson hit the ball over the right field fence into the bleachers, scoring both runners ahead of him. Score: R. H. E. Chicago ..... 2 6 0 Pittsburgh ..... 5 10 0 Batteries: Lavender and Nordham; O'Toole, Robinson and Simon.

INSIDE BASEBALL

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 4.—Eugene V. McGraw, of Bloomington, for several seasons an umpire in the Pacific Coast League and in earlier days the star pitcher of the Three Eye League, has been signed by Ban Johnson as an umpire in the American League.

JIMMY REAGAN WINS BALT LAKE, Sept. 4.—Jimmy Reagan of San Francisco, defeated Tally Johns of Rutte in fourteen rounds of fast fighting here tonight. Reagan and Johns all but out when his second throw up the sponge.

were the features. Lallvelt robbed Baker of a home run with two on bases when he jumped into the air and pulled down the drive with one hand. Score: R. H. E. New York ..... 0 12 0 Philadelphia ..... 1 7 1 Batteries: Warhop and Sweeney; Combs and Lapp.

CLARKE'S PIRATES LOSE PENNANT HOPES

Fred C. Clarke.

Until quite recently Manager Clarke of Pittsburgh and his band of Pirates entertained high hopes that they might yet be able to grab off the National league pennant this year. These hopes are now practically blasted, for, as the season draws to a close, they are making no headway in their struggle to overcome the lead of the Giants and the Cubs.

LEMOORE IDLE TO WATCH CUBS GATHER

Business Suspended While Watsonville Giants Are Drubbed

LEMOORE, Sept. 4.—Business was suspended in Lemoore today while the town turned out en masse to see the Lemoore Cubs administer a beating to Snowden's Giants from Watsonville in a fast and exciting game. The score was 4 to 3, due to the invincible pitching of Miller, who has won seven straight games for the Cubs. Lemoore added this victory to its already long list, which extends over a period of two months. The official score follows:

TIGERS TIE ANGELS FOR TOP OF LADDER

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Vernon tied Los Angeles for first place in the Pacific Coast League today by defeating Oakland in the game here, 5 to 3. The Southerners landed on Killy for five hits and brought in three runs. Although Killy immediately was replaced by Christian, Vernon continued to plout the ball, totaling thirteen hits. The game was errorless on both sides. The score:

TURLOCK WRESTLER SAYS BOU WAS NO FRAMEUP

TURLOCK, Sept. 4.—Sporting Editor for the Republican: In your paper of August 31, you have an article regarding the wrestling match between Armin Josef and myself, George Samson. In this article is the statement that Josef promised me $50 for "laying down." In justice to Mr. Josef and myself I would like to have you correct the statement that the match was a frame-up. The agreement was that Josef was to give me fifty dollars to wrestle, win or lose.

In the match, Mr. Josef threw me six times in fifteen minutes, which convinced the audience and myself that I was not in his class, but so far as there being a "frameup" you have done both Mr. Josef and I an injustice.

Mr. Josef has refused to pay the $50 promised to me, not "to lay down" as you term it, hence the suit.

GEO. SAMSON.

CHAMPIONSHIP IN WESTERN LEAGUE ALL BUT CONCEDED TO DENVER GRIZZLIES

Outfielder John Seall, of Denver; Manager Frank Isbell, of De Moines (top). As the Western League pennant race enters the last month of its course, the championship has all but been conceded to the Denver Grizzlies. The interest in the league at the present time centers in a walk-away race. Among the important figures in the league this season might be mentioned John Seall, Denver outfielder and star home-run hitter of the league, whose work has kept Denver in first place; Frank Isbell, former Chicago White Sox star, manager of De Moines; and George Hughes, manager and second baseman of the Wichita team and best second sacker in the league.

WOLVERTON TO STAY AS YANKS' MANAGER

Harry Wolverton. Within a short time Harry Wolverton, manager of the New York team, will put his signature to a contract to manage the club next season. There has been much speculation as to whether President Farrell would care to re-appoint the light-haired boss for the season of 1913, but Farrell recently declared that Wolverton has done as well as anybody could under the circumstances.

ENGLAND'S MAPLE LEAF WINS MOTORBOAT CUP

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., Sept. 4.—England took the Harmsworth Cup this afternoon when the challenger, Maple Leaf IV, won the third and deciding contest of the international motorboat races here. She made the 20 mile course in 47:46, leading Baby Reliance III, an American defender by one minute and five seconds. There was no third, the other boats failing to finish.

MOTORCYCLE MARATHON RECORD IS HUNG OUT

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 4.—Arthur (Farmer) Standish of Oberlin, Ohio, broke a world's record when he won the motorcycle marathon race on the St. Louis motorcycle here tonight. He covered the twenty-six miles in twenty minutes and three seconds. The former record was twenty-two minutes.

FIGHTING BILLY MURRAY BEATS BROWN IN TENTH

TAKT, Sept. 4.—Fighting Billy Murray, the local pugilist, disposed of Chick Brown on Labor Day afternoon after a hard struggle. Brown's second threw up the sponge in the tenth after their man had made a game fight. He was outclassed by Murray who nevertheless experienced no little difficulty in putting on the finishing touches.

TWO FAST FIGHTS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 4.—Sally Salvador of Sacramento and Roy Moore of San Francisco both featherweights, fought 20 fast rounds to a draw here tonight. In the special event, Russell, former of Marysville and Jack Fitzgerald of Nebraska, middleweights, fought ten rounds to a draw.

NEW CANADIAN CHAMP

CALGARY, Alberta, Sept. 4.—Joe Barley, lightweight champion of Canada, knocked out Billy Allen, former champion, in the third round of a scheduled fifteen round fight here today. It was in their preceding fight that Barley won the championship.

HE CAN'T FORGET

A musician, seated for out on a wind-swept pier at Atlantic City, was telling stories about composers.

"Dr. Richard Strauss," he said, "is the most American composer I know of. He is a New York man. He was very hard on him. In fact, they were so hard on him that Dr. Strauss has not yet either forgotten or forgiven them. The wound is still raw. It still bleeds."

The musician, regarding with an absent smile the slow, heavy, graceful waves of a school of porpoise in the tumbling blue water, continued:

"I had the honor," he said, "of attending one of Dr. Strauss' rehearsals in Munich. It was a very symphony, very beautiful, but very bizarre. In the middle of it the composer rapped his desk impatiently and called to the double bassoon:

"Why don't you play the F sharp that is marked?"

"The bassoon, a bull-headed sort of fellow, answered:

"Because it would sound wrong, that is why."

"Dr. Strauss gave a harsh laugh and shouted:

"Himml! Are you a New York critic in disguise?"

SEALS BUNCH HITS; ANGELS ARE FALLING

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—Los Angeles dropped to Vernon's level in the Coast League pennant race by losing to San Francisco today, while Vernon won at Oakland. Miller held Dillon's men to five scattered hits and scored a shut-out at the same time getting enough hits off Vernon's delivery to win.

The visitors took the lead in the first, when Wuffli scored after a single by himself, a double by Howard and a single by Zimmerman. Howard was caught at the plate. Wuffli singled and scored again in the third, aided by Gedeon's single and Howard's sacrifice fly. Singles by Berry and Howard, and an error by Berger added another run in the fifth. Marks pitched the last inning for Los Angeles and gave one hit. The score:

YOUNGEST MANAGER IN WESTERN LEAGUE

William Dwyer, manager of the Lincoln club in the Western League, is the league's youngest manager. He won the 1910 pennant for Des Moines, and recently his team had a phenomenal winning streak. Lincoln is running neck-and-neck with Omaha and St. Joseph for second place in the league.

TOO CLEVER

"Too many advertisements try to be clever. Now it is better for an advertisement to be simple and direct than clever. Cleverness confuses the issue."

The speaker was Henry C. Milnes-Caskell, a London advertising agent, who has come to New York to learn American methods. He resumed:

"The would-be clever advertisement always reminds me of the shop assistant—

"Young man, a lady asked him, 'Will this flannel shrink?'

"Desiring to be clever when his one desire should have been to sell goods, the shop assistant answered:

"Not as much as I would from telling you it didn't, madame, if it did."

APOCRYPHAL

Aprepos of John D. Rockefeller's purchase of a mine for $400,000 that he sold to the Steel Trust for $500,000, a Chicago broker told, rather bitterly perhaps, an apocryphal story about the oil king.

OUR FEATHERED FRIENDS

Rose Pastor Phelps-Stokes, during a recent visit to Philadelphia, told at a charity society a country-week story.

"Under an apple tree," she said, "I gathered a half-dozen little country weekers about me one August afternoon, and, holding up a book, I said:

"Now, children, I'm going to read to you. This is the book. It is called 'Our Feathered Friends.' Who are our feathered friends, does any one know?"

"The uprising on the grass regarded one another doubtfully; then a little chap piped in a shrill key:

"Angela?"

AMERICA'S ONLY PROFESSIONAL WOMAN AVIATOR TO FLY ENGLISH CHANNEL SOON

Blanche Stewart Scott. Blanche Stewart Scott, who since Harriett Quimby's death is America's only professional woman aviator, has announced her intention of beating the latter's successful flight across the English channel. Within a month Miss Scott will start from Dover in an effort to reach Calais in a hydro-aeroplane.

$10,000 TROTTER RACE IS PUT OVER FOR ONE DAY

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 4.—Grand Circuit racing at the Connecticut State Fair began this afternoon at Charter Oak Park. The track was so bad in spots today that the $10,000 trot, the classic event of the meet, was put over until Thursday.

Two events were carried through this afternoon, the $100 pace which was won in straight heats by Knight Onward and the free-for-all pace, which developed into an interesting contest between the Bel and Sir R., the latter finally winning.

In the $100 pace, Knight Onward had things his own way. Mansfield pushed the fleet footed stallion in all three heats and Inpoue was beaten by more than a neck. Denver Jay had third place easily.

CAPTAIN KID MOHLER IS CAPTAIN NO LONGER

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Ernest Mohler, more familiarly known as "Kid," is no longer captain of the Seals. Furthermore, it is probable that San Francisco fans have seen him play his last game here. He becomes an official "scout" for the San Francisco club and will leave at once on a trip through the "bushes" looking over young ball players with a view to signing them up for the local team.

Mohler has really played excellent ball this season, particularly during the past few weeks, but in general opinion, he has lost some of his old speed and there has been clamor for a new second baseman.

Del Howard, who is the regular first baseman, but is now in right field pending Mundorf's recovery from injuries, has been appointed captain. Howard has had much experience as a team leader, and it has been conceded for a long time that he would be Mohler's successor.

THE PILOTS

Pilot Schooner During a Winter Cruise

Ship Lying to Awaiting Pilot

The Watch Below Decks

Pilot Boarding Steamer

Pilot! What a world of romance the very mention of the word conjures to the imaginative mind. Who has not read James Fenimore Cooper's famous sea yarns, and felt their blood tingle as they read the story of how the seemingly impossible was accomplished?

And yet those who are today the pilots of our coast are just such sturdy, stalwart men, but were one to say romance to them they would laugh, even as it is the custom of seafaring men to forget the danger and toll of a voyage as soon as harbor is reached.

Pilotage is a trade that few pursue, not because it is so dangerous but rather because of the conditions that prevail to make the present day pilot a chosen few who exist that our commerce may be all the more aided.

In keeping with the times pilotage has undergone a great change during the past 40 years, and now it is a business proposition, at the same time representing a tremendous advance in the communication of interests.

From the beginning of the use of vessels for transportation there have been pilots. Thus their calling is an old and honorable one. The monarchs of the Mediterranean heaped high honors upon the pilot. They were the richest emblems of office and they were lodged upon with high esteem.

And well that they were for, even in those days, there was developed the keen sense of commercialism to the extent that a vessel would be of little value were there not someone to guide it through the tortuous channels and bring her and her cargo safely home.

Following the pilot who always went with his ship came the development of the local pilot, the man who met ships at the entrance to the port and carried them in and out of harbor.

On the Bridge of a Steam Pilot

The evolution of the Atlantic coast pilot has been brought about at the cost of many lives and great expenditure of money, while the story affords some of the most exciting reading of history.

Each seaborne state took care of its own pilotage to the extent of licensing anyone who could navigate the harbor. The work was arduous, but it paid handsomely and many young men were attracted to it. Being a pilot, however, was one thing and having a boat was another, for it was sometimes necessary to be at sea in all kinds of weather.

This drove the pilots together for mutual benefit. Half a dozen or more would combine, buy or build a small schooner and seek prizes in deep water, the last man to bring in the schooner. It would be but a short time before another half a dozen then began the days of competition; days that will ever be remembered for deeds of daring and even foolhardiness.

As the number of boats on any one station increased the little boats would venture farther seaward in their quest, remaining close to the path of shipping despite even hurricanes. Often these little craft have been known to remain off shore a week or ten days at a time, some times without even sighting a sail, and return to port with water and provisions exhausted.

With the pilot the law of the survival of the fittest was applied with all the rigor that even the sea itself enforces. It was a case of the victor belonged the spoils. The moment a sail or smudge of smoke was seen on the horizon every pilot boat started for it.

It mattered little to the men on the opposing boats what the weather might be. The more wind the better, while mountainous seas were entirely disregarded. The first man to reach the vessel would get her. Every boat that could be carried was swung on, the pilot boats were driven for all they were worth. Under pressure of the little craft would lay almost on their beam ends, water would run a foot deep in the lee scuppers while over their windward bows the crests of waves would come in solid cataraacts.

In such races it was not uncommon to lose sails, masts and even members of the crew, yet it was these very races that led to the development of the fast sailing schooners and gave to the pilot boats the reputation of being the swiftest craft afloat.

It is said on good authority that it was the lines of a famous Maryland pilot boat, the Henry Clay, that were adopted for the hull of the old cup winner America.

Nor was it in gales of wind alone that the pilots raced. When there was not a whisper of wind and the water was as smooth as a dancing floor the sight of a distant sail spurred the men to take to their small boats and row, often as much as ten miles, straining nerve and muscle and contesting every inch until the fortunate pilot was safely on the Jacob's ladder and ascending the ship's side.

At night and in thick weather the pilots played all kinds of tricks on each other. The law required that the pilot boats, in addition to their regular running lights, should carry a white light at the masthead. Every boat, regardless of the law, also carried a barrel at the masthead and into this barrel the white light was usually dropped. Running lights were covered with canvas and thus, without lights, the boats cruised to and fro, each endeavoring to dodge the other.

But there was another side to the business. It not infrequently happened that a pilot boat would be seen on her station at the close of a day and then disappear forever, victim with all on board to some larger craft that had out her down. Pilot boats, too, were lost in gales that swept the coast. Now and then pilots would be drowned alongside of the vessels they were trying to board. The sea took its toll and it showed no mercy.

One of the most remarkable wrecks was that of the Virginia pilot schooner Antelope. Caught off Cape Henry in a Northeaster the little boat was stripped of sail and driven in on the shoals, men after man being swept from her deck until but one remained. Just before the schooner struck the beach he went below and drew the hatch. When the schooner struck she was grasped by a mighty breaker, rolled over and over, her masts were broken off short and she was piled, almost high and dry, upon the shore. The man in the schooner, although having been hurled about like a pea in a bottle and terribly shaken, did not lose his head. He the coast, until competitive pilotage was a thing of history.

It was the Maryland Association that took the first great step of departure from the old and built a steam pilot boat. In 1850 they had constructed for them a steel steamer of 193 tons, 116 feet long and with 150 horsepower engines which they named Pilot.

Although steam craft have materially reduced the labor of the pilot, the danger is just as great as ever, if not greater, for the men still have to depend upon their small boats to board vessels. In a lump of a sea when a huge steamer is rolling it is 30 feet or more to the deck. As the huge hull rolls the ladder ways outward and then in again, unable to catch a man half way up the ladder and dash him with terrific force against the iron sides.

Indeed, not so long ago, a New York pilot, after reaching the deck of a steamer, dropped dead, his heart having given way under the strain of the long climb and the battering he received. Then, too, against the iron sides the small boat is more liable to be stove in. This is, indeed, a matter of frequent occurrence, and there seldom passes a month but what some pilot is hauled to the deck soaked to the skin, to say the least.

In winter when the mouths of the bays are filled with floating ice the danger is greatly increased, but the greatest of all perils is fog. Then, for all hands on board, there is maintained a nerve-racking vigil not only on deck but in the engine room where the hand of the engineer never leaves the throttle. Right in the path of shipping, with giant steamers moving to and fro, a collision could mean but one thing for the pilot boat.

Often in the dead of night there is a mad single of bells followed by the whirling of the engines and the trembling of the whole vessel as the screw beats the water. Then one of the lookouts sticks his face in the companion way and shouts at the top of his lungs: "All hands on deck!"

Instantly the sleeping men are on their feet. On their rudely awakened senses there falls the sound of the violent throbbing of the engines. Only too well they know what it means and they rush for the deck, perhaps just in time to see a huge, dark, towering mass of iron graze by the side of their boat.

An exchange of compliments is shouted; a sigh of relief follows; someone ejaculates, "D— close call, that," and, ten minutes later, a dozen tellers of the sea, insured to just such experiences, are again below and lost in slumber.

Nor do the pilots ever hesitate to go to vessels in distress and rarely do they ask for salvage. They are well satisfied if they get a new hawser and a letter of thanks from the owners and underwriters, coupled with the thanks of the rescued.

The pilot begins life at the very bottom when he enters the service as an apprentice. To him falls all of the work of a common sailor, besides which he has to learn every foot of the bottom of his station. This knowledge is gained by sounding with a lead line and many weary, weary hours are spent in swinging a hunk of lead on a marked rope, calling out the depths and comparing the results of his experience with the regular charts.

Then there are landmarks he must learn, courses he is remembered to, theoretically, he can take a vessel anywhere. Upon having served his apprenticeship he is given his first branch, entitling him to take a vessel of light draft, though, in the meanwhile, he will have made numbers of trips with some of the regular men.

After having served as a first branch man for a definite period, or until there is a vacancy by death or retirement, he becomes a "full-fledged" pilot and is entitled to buy a share in the business by taking out shares proportionate to the number of men in the association.

The association's shares always have a good cash value, and many a pilot, deciding to go ashore, has sold out and found a tidy sum to help him enter some other sphere of life. While in the service pilots work on the share-and-share-alike basis. All money is put in a common fund, the expenses are deducted and what is left over is divided equally every month. This, naturally, makes their income uncertain, and it is but fair to say that, in consideration of the hardships they endure and the risks they run, their remuneration is altogether too small.

Besides taking vessels in and out of port the pilots co-operate with national and state quarantine officers, signal stations for the completion of news for the maritime exchanges and with the hydrographic office. They are, in fact, a cog in the wheels of commerce which insures smooth running to maritime machinery and its various interests.

UNCLE SAM'S CLOTHING FACTORY

FEW people are aware that Uncle Sam runs an up-to-date clothing factory—one that is conducted on the same business principles as a private enterprise, and with as much if not more economy than any first-class clothing manufactory in the country. The establishment occupies a large building in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and here all the clothing worn by the forty-seven thousand sailors who man our great fighting machines is manufactured. The cloth used is selected with much care and by men who are experts in their knowledge of woolens. It is generally purchased from the large cloth manufacturers of the country, but only after the sample have been thoroughly tested, for the material must not shrink after it is made up. It must be durable and not affected by different climates. The goods are brought to the factory in huge rolls and sent to the sponging room on the top floor, where it is sent through a thorough sponging and made absolutely non-shrinkable, although it has already been sponged for a sailor's clothing which would not stand water would be a useless thing. This process over, it is sent to the room below, where it is spread on large tables and the cutters begin their work. Here again economy is used, for the cutting is done by the aid of an electric cutting machine, and in this manner a dozen suits may be cut at the same time.

An expert mechanic handles this machine, and there is a regulation style for the clothing worn by a man at war, and this does not prevent the designer from making improvements for the better in cuts and shapes if possible. There must be plenty of room for free action in a sailor's clothing, yet he must be neat in appearance, and the baggy clothes worn by some of the sailors of European countries would not go for a moment on our battleships. The American seaman has long been regarded as the neatest dressed sailor man in the world, yet few persons realize just how much of this neatness he owes to the designers and makers of his clothing at the Brooklyn factory. Hundreds of men of all sizes are to be fitted. Boys sometimes enter the Navy and from time to time outgrow their clothing. This is carefully watched by the officers on the ships and the Navy clothing factory is always ready to supply extras.

The actual sewing on the clothing is not done in the factory, but is given out to women who do the work at home. In doing this Uncle Sam is the good angel of many a household, for the work is given out, preferably, to widows and daughters of veterans. The Navy man does not wear sweatshop made clothing, for he workers are paid living wages, and many women are able to keep themselves and their children in a very comfortable home with the proceeds of the work they receive from the factory. During the busy season, such as when the women often employ their little hands in miniature factories for the time being. There is an old saying that the gentlewoman does excellent work in any calling, and this is especially true at the Navy clothing factory, for some of these gentle-faced widowed women are exceptionally neat in their sewing.

The Designer at Work

In the Sponging Room

After the suits have been cut each one is examined to see that every piece fits together correctly, the necessary trimmings such as thread, buttons, braid, etc., are added. They are then done up in bundles ready for the women who come for work each morning. These women have a private entrance to the factory and begin to arrive between nine and ten o'clock, bringing the finished work as well. Each article is carefully inspected by a man who is rigid in his rules, and it is surprising how few pieces are condemned. The women are given slips as the work is passed, and pay day occurs twice every month. On receiving the unpaid clothing the worker signs for it. About a dozen suits are taken out at a time. Several more than one hundred and thirty thousand white drill hats, service stripes, rating badges, etc., for winning gun crews and good conduct stars.

All the finished suits are inspected by three different persons before they are prepared for the company. This work is especially interesting, and the method used in this factory has been copied by several European countries. Indeed, the workings of this machine is one of the rights of the Navy Yard when foreign dignitaries pay our Navy Yards a visit. Admiral Togo, the hero of Japan, who recently visited this country, was much impressed with the mechanism and the compass wheel was turned again and again in order that he might thoroughly understand its workings. After the last inspection has been passed the suits are neatly folded and tied together in a canvas covering. They are then placed in the compress machine, a wheel is turned and the pressure of one thousand pounds reduces the bale to nearly one-half its size. Heavy oil-cloth is then wrapped about the bundle so that it is absolutely watertight. One of these bales was thrown overboard recently to test its resistance to water and was fished up the following day, and when opened the clothing was found to be perfectly dry.

A plentiful supply of clothing is kept on all the battleships, and as space is an item the compress machine is especially useful.

Great care is used in keeping out moths, for hundreds of suits are always held in the storeroom, and to guard against the ravages of this insect a careful inspection is made of the entire stock each week.

Besides the manufacture of garments a hundred or more of the necessary articles used by the men on a battleship are purchased by the factory and thoroughly examined before they are sent to the ships. These include hair brushes, tooth brushes, combs, net underwear, towels, soap, etc. All the shoes worn by the sailor men pass through this factory, and last year nearly thirty thousand pairs of high shoes and over twenty thousand low shoes were "passed" for the ships. The sailor's shoes, too, must be of a certain cut—neat, yet heavy enough to keep out water. Over half a million pairs of black stockings were among the articles looked after at the factory. Even the tobacco used by the men is purchased and examined here, and last year over one hundred thousand pounds of plug tobacco was sent to the ships. Tack-knives, too, to the extent of four thousand were "passed." It is well known that the men do their own mending on ship-board and the purchase of sewing implements was another task of those in charge of the factory.

Agentic as this task seems everything appears to move in the most perfect order, and there is harmony in all departments. The workmen and the women who sew have a scale of wages which seems to satisfy them, and Uncle Sam's factory has been free from strike and labor disturbances. Good material and good workmanship and living wages to the worker seems to be the motto of this big industrial enterprise which is carried on by the United States Government for the purpose of equipping our sailors with the very best and most comfortable clothing—something well deserved by the brave boys who tread the decks of our great battleships and who stand ready at any time to defend the flag—even to the death.

Such statistics furnished on the authority of the French government itself is enough to condemn from a national standpoint the existence of a tremendous city like the capital of France, and a commission of well known scientists and political economists has been appointed to study what means may be employed to save the future of the French race.

CIVILIZATION AND DEPOPULATION.

EVER since the Empire of Rome accompanied an extremely high state of civilization, the conquering of the known world and settled down to produce the first real civilized community, the scientists and statesmen have been saddened by the fact that it is an undeniable fact—that depopulation is one of the first evils that younger and more energetic civilizations a splendid specimen and a horrible example of a decadent nation.

You France is a nation that is decadent only in the sense that for one half century—from 1830 to 1910—the population of France has ceased to increase in numbers. The first ten of these fifty years the French race increased a little—with a constantly decreasing momentum. This lasted until twenty years ago, when there was a period of ten years during which the population remained practically the same. During the first ten years of the present century—the French have become a race that is becoming smaller and smaller in its numerical force.

And the cause of this depopulation is not difficult to find: for it is simply the result of too much love of luxury and dress, too fine dinners, too much theater-going and too little of the simple home life that makes both men and nations healthy, normal and contented.

If a statistician would search out the real root of the trouble it could be found out that city life has had the biggest part to play in killing off the French people. ### ROOSEVELT'S TOUR EARLY DELIVERIES OF VALLEY IS DISCUSSED

Cost of Special Train From San Francisco Estimated at About $1750

Colonel May Come Here on Regular Night Train To Speak Early

While unexpected complications have arisen over Colonel Roosevelt's proposed trip through the San Joaquin Valley on September 10th, the trip is still being considered as feasible by the state leaders at Republican headquarters in San Francisco. According to advices received here last night, it is planned to give the valley people an opportunity to see and hear the Colonel on the morning of the 10th with a stop in Fresno for three quarters of an hour and a fifteen-minute platform talk at Bakersfield at noon.

The original plan to bring Roosevelt here from San Francisco on a special train has almost been abandoned because the cost is now estimated at $1750 instead of $1000. The plan to have the Colonel speak here has not been given up altogether, as the San Francisco advices state that the regular night train over the Santa Fe Pacific can be set back a half hour to accommodate Fresno and other cities in the valley.

If this arrangement is made, the night train will leave San Francisco at 9:40 o'clock Sunday night, September 15th and arrive here early Monday morning. Roosevelt's private car could be picked up again at 8:40 by holding the daylight train to Los Angeles a half hour. If this schedule is arranged it will not cost anything extra and permit the Colonel to speak in Fresno for three quarters of an hour, reach Los Angeles at 7:45 in the evening, or in time to address a monster meeting in the southern city. The train would reach Bakersfield at noon and leave at 12:15, the same as planned for the special.

The additional cost of the special train can not be met, it is believed, and the only question now in doubt, with the schedule for the regular night train in mind, is the early hour at which Roosevelt will arrive. There is some doubt as to size of crowd that could be assembled at such an early hour, though it is believed by many that the presence of the Colonel and his speech of three-quarters of an hour would attract people from all over the valley. Roosevelt has never visited Fresno and the nearest he has approached here is the Yosemite Valley, which he visited during his term of office. He made a speech from the platform of his car at Berkeley.

DEMOTED RANCHER MAX ZASTRO MAY ENDS HIS LIFE WITH PISTOL

Road House Proprietor Will Be Given Hearing Thursday; Furnishes Bail

When Max Zastro, proprietor of the Five Mile House on Clark street here, is given his preliminary hearing by city Justice Frankland next Thursday on a charge of violating the Wyllie Local Option law, under which Fresno county outside of the incorporated cities was voted "dry," it is very likely that a strong attempt will be made to throw the case out of court on the grounds that the law is invalid. The Wyllie Local Option law has been contested in one other county and has been held valid by the Supreme Court.

Zastro was represented in court yesterday by Attorney Frankman. The road house proprietor was informed of his rights and released on $5000 bonds. It is rumored that Attorney Everts and Ewing will be associated in the case with Attorney Frankman. Attorney Ewing said yesterday that Zastro had consulted him about taking the case but that no definite arrangements had been made.

Frankman said last night that Everts and Ewing would be connected with the defense. Frankman refused to discuss the case and would not state whether he would try the case on its merits or attempt to throw it out of court. Ewing said that as long as he had not been engaged as one of the attorneys for the defense he would not commit himself as to what course would be taken. He remarked that it was almost a waste of time to fight ordinances in this county because if they were declared void it was a very easy matter for the city trustees or supervisors to pass punitive proof laws.

The charge against Zastro is that he sold liquor on his premises. He was arrested Saturday night by Sheriff McSwain. The complaint was sworn to yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Rutherford.

FREE CITY MARKET FAVORED BY MAYOR

Will Ask Supervisors to Locate It on Fresno St. Side of Courthouse Park

The establishment of a free city market where the consumer may buy directly from the producer is one of the hobbies of Mayor Snow, and on several occasions while a city trustee he has been before the board of supervisors asking for cooperation to establish such a market. The obstacle has always been as to the location of the market place.

Mayor Snow has hit upon a temporary expedient and as a locality for the market has selected the open space on the Fresno street side of the courthouse park up to the chains and even beyond if necessary. According to his present intentions, he will appear before the supervisors tomorrow and renew his request for cooperation with the city. The mayor has studied out his plan in detail, and says this will have to be formulated in large part at the conference with the supervisors.

Mayor Snow is very earnest in the matter, and has declared that upon the result of the action of the supervisors and the assistance that they will give him will depend his next move in bringing the matter before the trustees at their next meeting. Mayor Snow is undecided whether to have the park recreation as a regulated place for the location of wagons during certain hours on every day of the week, or only on particular days, or whether to have vendors' booths and stalls erected as a marketing place.

Whatever the plan decided upon, he believes the free market will be a most popular institution.

ALIMONY IS DENIED IN DIVORCE CASE

Showing Is Made That Mrs. Gertrude Eastwood is Financially Well Off

Judge Church denied yesterday the application of Mrs. Gertrude Eastwood for alimony, attorney's fee and costs for divorce, because of the showing made that she has more ready cash than the husband whom she is suing for divorce. The principal showing was made in the affidavit of C. K. Sorenson, who said that he had been at Ocean Park on the 7th of last month, where she was negotiating for the purchase of a lodging house on Pier avenue, claiming to have $1000 in bank, expecting to pay $350 cash down to bind the deal and further that she had from $400 to $500 on her person. Harry Eastwood, the husband, filed his affidavit showing that besides the $1000 cash, she has personal property valued at as much more, besides drawing a monthly rental income of $11, while as a commission broker he had not averaged $50 a month income. Eastwood also set out in his affidavit an agreement of August 3rd whereby obligating himself to pay for the maintenance of their child, who is with the mother, the latter relinquishing all claims on him for support and expenses growing out of the expected divorce suit.

BOY DIES FROM BURNS

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Sept. 4.—The 4-year-old son of Lieutenant Wells, 14th Infantry, died here early today from burns caused by his jumping from an ash can. The lid turned, causing the boy to alight waist-deep in live coals. The boy's father now is on duty on the Mexican border.

PATROLMAN M'CALL RESIGNS FROM FORCE

Financial Troubles Reason For Officer to Tender His Resignation

Patrolman Henry McCall, one of the oldest officers in point of service on the police force, yesterday afternoon tendered his resignation to Chief of Police Jones. The resignation was accepted and will take effect immediately. Financial reasons are given for McCall leaving the force. McCall has been on the force for six years and two months.

The resignation was made at the request of the chief of police because McCall had violated the rules in the police manual regarding financial transactions. McCall stated last night that he was going into business for himself. Chief Jones in a few days will appoint a new patrolman.

COMMERCE CHAMBER GETS BIG PEACHES

A box of choice peaches was donated to the Chamber of Commerce yesterday by David Ash of Riverview. The fruit will be installed in the exhibit room in a few days in glass jars. Ash stated that the peaches, which are Philippine cling, were picked from trees growing on sub-irrigated land on the banks of the San Joaquin river. The box contained fruit of uniform size, most of the peaches measuring twelve inches in circumference and a few were a trifle larger.

The principal showing was made in the affidavit of C. K. Sorenson, who said that he had been at Ocean Park on the 7th of last month, where she was negotiating for the purchase of a lodging house on Pier avenue, claiming to have $1000 in bank, expecting to pay $350 cash down to bind the deal and further that she had from $400 to $500 on her person. Harry Eastwood, the husband, filed his affidavit showing that besides the $1000 cash, she has personal property valued at as much more, besides drawing a monthly rental income of $11, while as a commission broker he had not averaged $50 a month income. Eastwood also set out in his affidavit an agreement of August 3rd whereby obligating himself to pay for the maintenance of their child, who is with the mother, the latter relinquishing all claims on him for support and expenses growing out of the expected divorce suit.

BOY DIES FROM BURNS

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Sept. 4.—The 4-year-old son of Lieutenant Wells, 14th Infantry, died here early today from burns caused by his jumping from an ash can. The lid turned, causing the boy to alight waist-deep in live coals. The boy's father now is on duty on the Mexican border.

PATROLMAN M'CALL RESIGNS FROM FORCE

Financial Troubles Reason For Officer to Tender His Resignation

Patrolman Henry McCall, one of the oldest officers in point of service on the police force, yesterday afternoon tendered his resignation to Chief of Police Jones. The resignation was accepted and will take effect immediately. Financial reasons are given for McCall leaving the force. McCall has been on the force for six years and two months.

The resignation was made at the request of the chief of police because McCall had violated the rules in the police manual regarding financial transactions. McCall stated last night that he was going into business for himself. Chief Jones in a few days will appoint a new patrolman.

COMMERCE CHAMBER GETS BIG PEACHES

A box of choice peaches was donated to the Chamber of Commerce yesterday by David Ash of Riverview. The fruit will be installed in the exhibit room in a few days in glass jars. Ash stated that the peaches, which are Philippine cling, were picked from trees growing on sub-irrigated land on the banks of the San Joaquin river. The box contained fruit of uniform size, most of the peaches measuring twelve inches in circumference and a few were a trifle larger.

DELICIOUS GOLDEN TOAST EASILY AND QUICKLY MADE

MANY persons do not care for much breakfast. Just toast and an egg and coffee or perhaps some cereals is all that is wished for. To prepare a light meal of this kind EL GRILLO is particularly convenient and time saving.
